A SENIOR'S TESTAMENT OF BROTHERHOOD

The Whole Story of Fraternity Greatness

A new edition of Baird's Manual just published in an impressive testimony that fraternities continue to gain strength and size

THE new Seventeenth Edition of Baird's Manual of American College Fraternities, the bible of the Greek-letter world since 1879, clearly answers a question frequently asked of late: "Have the fraternities stopped growing?"

The new edition just published by the George Banta Co., Inc., Menasha, Wis., is larger in every way than the preceding edition of 1957. It is convincing evidence that the fraternities have decidedly not stopped growing. College enrollment grows, the fraternities grow, and this new edition is evidence that Baird's Manual has grown and is growing with them.

Perhaps the most impressive statistic revealed is that 7,324,481 college men and women have become members of Greek-letter societies; in 1957 the total was 5,524,606, the gain being 1,799,876 members.

Today there are 4,092 chapters of men's national fraternities; in 1957 there were 3,740 chapters, an increase of 352 groups.

The sororities claimed 2,125 chapters in 1957; today they have 2,374 chapters, a gain of 249 groups.

The work contains an enlarged Introduction to the American College Fraternity, which presents historical highlights, essential phases of development, and in revealing the nature of the fraternity shows why it is an important institution which has contributed significantly to America as a civilization.

Also, a more readily usable directory is included of universities and colleges where there are fraternity chapters; this describes the institution briefly and states for the first time the type of housing utilized by the fraternities and sororities. The new Baird's lists 915 institutions, while the 1957 edition listed but 491. The new edition lists 497 colleges where there are active chapters of either men's or women's fraternities or both; the former edition listed 349 such institutions—a gain of 148 campuses. And more are joining the ranks.

Another major change has been made in the method of classification of the professional fraternities, honor societies, and recognition societies. Officers of the Professional Interfraternity Conference, the Professional Panhellenic Association, and the Association of College Honor Societies assisted in effecting a classification for the new work which is based on well-defined standards. This is a

If he can keep up the busy pace, Bedford W. Black of Kannapolis, N.C., will soon become the most-traveled Sigma Phi Epsilon Grand President of all time. An attendant at founders dinners, installations, state days, chapter anniversaries, and what-have-you all over the nation, he is shown here at his brotherly best with a group of Parsons Sig Eps.

Voice of THE FRATERNITY

It is hoped that the letters or portions of letters which appear in "Voice of Fraternity," for the spirit they bequeath and advice they include, will contribute to a stronger bond.—ED.

Inside and Outside

We are wondering why the picture of Kentucky Alpha's pretty bunny Billy Ledbetter was omitted from the February JOURNAL?

If you want to give the readers of our magazine a nice glow you simply have to include pictures like this, and not only of the Fraternity's scholars and BMOs.—BROTHERS OF THE KENTUCKY CHAPTER, 509 East Main St., Lexington, Ky.

► The editorial assumption has been that it is the scholar and BMO pictures which give the reader the real glow—a lasting inner glow, so to speak. Of course, it may well be that the other kind is important, too. See cut.

At Kentucky's Playboy Party, Billy Ledbetter showed up as an impressive bunny.

On the Inside

Little did I realize when I took the oath four years ago that some day I would have the opportunity to visit Richmond, Va., and also attend a meeting of the National Board of Directors of our Fraternity.

A National Board meeting is little different from a chapter meeting when it comes to verbosity and politics. However, a sincere sense of respect exists for the majority opinion in a Board decision.

It was amazing to see how many issues were discussed in the brief three-day session and to sense the concern of National Headquarters over a wide variety of situations and problems. Practically 50 chapters were reviewed by the Board. A detailed ritual report was hashed over and approved the same day—something unheard of in past meetings, I was told.

The highlight of the weekend was a preview of a 30-minute color film of Dr. U. G. Dubach giving one of his inspirational speeches. What a thrill!

This marks the 45th year that our National Scholarship Chairman has been an active Sig Ep, and thus the Board voted to give him a copy autographed by himself to himself. Dr. Dubach's closing words in the movie—"Heaven bless you boys in taking care of my beloved fraternity"—typify his sincere devotion to Sigma Phi Epsilon in this great rushing aid.

I was impressed with the gentlemen who guide Sig Ep, and found the general over-all co-operative attitude displayed by every brother present plausible.

The experience, I must admit, gave me an inkling of the national scope and dynamics of Sigma Phi Epsilon. To witness key decisions—with the exception of closed Executive Sessions—and watch the leaders of our fraternity in action was a unique opportunity which I won't forget.—ROBERT L. CANTIN, Lewis and Clark, SN, 5961026 Compliblant Pio, U.S. Navy Amphibious Base, Little Creek, Norfolk 20, Va.

It is an edifying experience to sit in on a meeting of the National Board of Directors of Sigma Phi Epsilon as Bob Cantin and I had the privilege of doing in January.

Nine very human brothers having the welfare of every chapter at heart tackled an agenda which included such items as individual chapter trouble spots as reported by field secretaries, proposals for new chapters, restoring to life a dying colony, revision of the Ritual, distribution of the Dubach film, proposals of recipients of The Order of the Golden Heart, the 1963 Conclave, and still others. From my observations I would assure brothers everywhere that their interests are being well protected and furthered. Our Fraternity has the leadership and the guidance which it deserves.

At the same time, the National Board, as well as the Executive Director of the Fraternity, and the NHQ staff and field men not only need the co-operation of alumni and undergraduates, but an interchange of opinion with "the grass roots." Sound criticisms which are made concerning the operation and administration of the Fraternity should be conveyed to the National Board through the Executive Secretary.

Only after several years are behind me will I probably realize the full value of my own observation. It was an enlightening experience that has brought me to more fully appreciate the burdens carried by the National Board and staff.—WILLIAM H. WHITE, Scholarship Director, Indiana, 815 North Jordan, Bloomington, Ind.

Daisy. Please Come Out!

It has occurred to the brothers at Maryland that our new "Sig Ep Opener" might be of interest to many who are or have been active in serenading across the campuses of the country. Instead of the tired old "Come out, Come out" chestnut we find that this is a new twist and the gals really like it.

It seems to us at Valparaiso that the theme, "All-Fraternity Leadership," emphasized in the February JOURNAL, is of the utmost importance. Fraternity members who have the responsibility for the success of the interfraternity council have a task of such urgency that it can no longer be shirked.

The first part of the task here is to see that there is less competition and more co-operation among campus Greeks. It is up to the IFC leaders to encourage all-Greek co-operation in any worthy endeavor from preparing a songfest, to organizing a rush period. This latter subject is now being given some attention by our IFC. At Valpo we now have deferred, informal rush, and there has been some discussion about making it a more formal period rather than having it almost constantly. IFC leaders must take a stand on the question that promotes the best interests of all the fraternities at Valparaiso and not only Sigma Phi Epsilon or some other fraternity.

I think that the problem of "All-Fraternity Leadership" should be discussed at the Conclave, for, if the Greek system is slowly dying out, as some have said, then the Greeks as a group must work together through IFC co-operation to provide an answer.—GEOFFREY M. STEIN, Secretary, Indiana Zeta of Sigma Phi Epsilon, 505 Lincolnway, Valparaiso, Ind.

Challenge Unanswered

The February JOURNAL announced that the champion D.C. Alpha Sig Ep intramural touch football team had challenged JFK's famous squad to a match but the White House had failed to reply. Well, after a long period of patient waiting in which all George Washington Sig Eps contemplated what they could do for their country, the answer finally came.

The presidential letter written on official stationery read:

The President has received your letter. He appreciates your challenge to a touch football game and regrets it will not be possible for him to schedule it. I am sure you will understand this.

We congratulate you on your championship and wish you continued success.

Sincerely yours,

RICHARD S. SNIDER
Administrator

And so even though they didn't get the chance to whip Jack, Bobby, Teddy, etc. in football, G. W. Sig Eps are still proud to possess what is probably the first fraternity team in history to receive best wishes from the President.

Here is another matter which may be of interest to transient brothers. Every summer, many Sig Eps are in Washington, D.C. on business and vacations. Quite often, the D.C. Alpha house has vacancies and is able to accommodate a limited number of Sig Eps in town. If you plan on coming to Washington this summer, and need a place to stay, write to:—KEN SMITH, 2002 G St., N.W., Washington 6, D.C.

Observe the Deadline!

I have sent some material in hope that you may be able to use it in the May issue of the JOURNAL. In March I sent some news and pictures to you to the National Headquarters. I noticed we did not have any coverage in the February issue; therefore I hope the material was forwarded to you in Wisconsin.—CARL BOOKER, Secretary, Indiana State Chapter, 801 South 4th St., Terre Haute, Ind.

What Makes a Fraternity Good

A Senior's Testament of Brotherhood

Commencement approaches for the author, at right, and four fellow seniors—from left: Bruce Harrington, Joe Mayer, Stu Harrison, and Jim Russo. They know that what they have given the fraternity—the hours of time, the team effort, the devotion—they will not lose but will take with them in their hearts.

A June graduate at Bradley looks back at four rewarding years in the Sig Ep house and tells why they were rewarding

By ROBERT E. FURLONG

FOUR years have passed since I first walked through the red door. I am about to leave behind me in the sands of time four years of my life spent on the campus and in the Sig Ep house at Bradley University.

As I sit in the living room with my fellow seniors and we talk over "the old days," I realize that the four years have been spent, and yet somehow they have not been spent at all but are mine still. Those "treasured memories" impart something to my heart and soul that I know will always belong to me, and that this feeling will always enrich my spirit when it comes to me, even to the end of my days.

My fellow seniors and I put a lot of ourselves into our lives at Bradley—and how grateful we now are that it was life spent in consistence with the Sigma Phi Epsilon ritual and, as it has happened, in the pursuit of excellence.

Otherwise, this great reward that has been given into our hearts would not be there. We now comprehend the truth of the promise: "What you give to your fraternity will be given back to you in increased measure, but when you give nothing you will get nothing."

When my fellow seniors and I pledged the house in the fall of 1959, there were 27 members there to greet us. At the last chapter meeting, I counted 49 brothers, each instilled with the fraternal spirit of brotherhood. When I pledged four short years ago, our mantel displayed few trophies. Today the mantel is overflowing, and the seniors as a gift to the chapter have ordered a trophy case which will accommodate the overflow. Last year we won 18 trophies out of a possible 27 in competition with 10 other fraternities.

Among these stand gleaming first-place awards for Pan-Fra Sing and Homecoming Stunt Show. As I look at them the gleam catches my eye but behind the external gleam I see many long hours of practice, the building of sets and props, and I hear the ovation on opening night. And then there are awards for second-place Homecoming House-Dec for the last two years. I can see again those ridiculous pink elephants in a Disneyland theme. We stayed up all night trying to get water to squirt from their trunks at the right time. Dawn broke, the morning passed, and just as the judges were coming up the street, the trunks at last grudgingly released their spurts of water.

No one talked about scholarship when I went through rush. Now two Grand Chapter scholarship cups grace the mantel. And another, still to be awarded, has been earned. For the last three years we have been above the all-men's average. And a lasting positive attitude toward scholarship finally has been developed in the tradition of the Founders at Richmond in 1901 who in that year took all the scholarship awards that were given except a single mathematics prize.

Sports had once been a sore spot with our chapter. Attendance at athletic contests was poor and the playing effort lacked conviction. The players of today are no more WISCONSIN'S two international scholars are Aage Fredenslund, right, from Copenhagen, Denmark, who was initiated in the spring of 1962, and Gunnar Gunnarson, from Reykjavik, Iceland, initiated just a year later.

Aage Fredenslund first came to the U.S. in 1958-59 as an American Field Service high school exchange student in Kaukauna, Wis., High School. He returned to Denmark for two years, worked as a traveling reporter for the city newspaper, as a laboratory assistant in a food canning factory, and assisted in running a farm on the outskirts of Copenhagen.

In September, 1961, he came to the University of Wisconsin on a foreign exchange scholarship. Now a senior in chemical engineering with a grade-point average of 3.5, he has been active in the chapter as scholarship chairman. His hobbies include girls (naturally), hunting, socializing, and traveling.

Gunnar Gunnarson has a one-year university scholarship. Upon graduating in the spring of '62 from Reykjavik Gymnasium (a junior college) in Iceland, he was granted a one-year scholarship by the Brittingham International Scholarships Foundation to study economics at Wisconsin. His travel expenditures are covered by a Fulbright award.

Next year the Free University of Berlin, Germany, will be Gunnar's home, where he will continue his studies in economics.

In Iceland, Gunnar has worked as a corresponding journalist for Morgunbladið, an organ of the Conservative Party and the largest newspaper in Iceland. He has contributed articles to magazines in the U.S. and Iceland. His hobbies include hunting, socializing, traveling (he accompanied Aage to the Rose Bowl), and, yes, girls.

These two foreign brothers have helped the Wisconsin Sig Eps understand foreign customs and traditions, and through chapter house life, they themselves have gained a sound insight into America.

supermen than they were then, but they have the will to win, they are playing for a brotherhood which they love and respect, and each event has the full support of the entire chapter. Brothers, don't think that that doesn't make the difference! No house out-cheers Sig Ep on Bradley's campus!

My four years are over. I write these words for the JOURNAL knowing that I have been an eye-witness to a real chapter success story, and that there is a lesson in it for those who have not yet learned such a lesson.

We have won the game and in winning it, I can say that most of our drive came from within. Counsel was supplied from the outside, but the impetus and the desire came from the members themselves. Maybe we were tired of being last, or perhaps we developed selfconfidence in ourselves as men.

Maybe we could not have done it without the blessing of a real leader. For we did follow the example of our chapter president who said, "I cannot sit down and just do nothing when I know there is something that I can do to make Sig Ep the top house on campus. I cannot pass an empty pop bottle in the hall without putting it away. I cannot see a brother working without asking if he needs help. I cannot rest until I have done my share and then some." Following such an example, any chapter will achieve success.

Has this dynamic attitude been diminishing as I leave, allowing the chapter to slump to its former level? This query is answered by an emphatic no! This spirit, which we have developed, has also been applied to rush, when we select men who we feel can maintain and implement this fraternal zeal. Our pledge program reflects this continuous search for betterment by imbuing each pledge with a concept of his responsibility not only to his fraternity, but also to himself and society. That then is our constant goal: social responsibility. That is what four years at Illinois Delta have meant to me. They have meant that I have been instilled with the concept of my duty toward society: a concept necessary for the running of our nation and the peaceful world to come.

THE University of Georgia Colony of Sigma Phi Epsilon officially became the Georgia Delta Chapter on March 29-30. This makes the 21st fraternity on the Georgia campus and the 159th chapter of Sig Ep.

In charge of the installation were Executive Director Donald M. Johnson, Staff Representative Robert L. Kirkpatrick, District Governor John Watkins, Chapter Counselor Dr. Lyle W. Jackson, and the colony officers. The ritual was performed by Sig Eps from Georgia Institute of Technology, Georgia State College, and Valdosta State College. Grand President Bedford W. Black of Kannapolis, N.C., was the chief installation officer.

A reception for the national officers was held Friday night at the Athens Elks Club. Following the installation Saturday a banquet dinner was also held at the Elks Club. Dean of Men William Tate expressed the need for fraternity life in moulding young men. Brother Black outlined the basic ideals of brotherhood, while Colony Vice President David Clark gave briefly the history of the colony. A formal dance was held immediately after the banquet.

The University

The University of Georgia was established in 1785 and is the oldest state university in the U.S. In 1801, it set up its curriculum in a pattern like that at Yale. There are 11 schools and colleges.

The University control experiment stations bring the total area of the campus to 8,300 acres. The main campus itself is 500 acres. Estimates of the value of the physical plant range from 55 to 81 million dollars. Since World War II, 33 million dollars' worth of buildings have been erected.

In the fall of 1962, there were 9,422 students enrolled, with 6,009 being men and 3,413 being women. Of the men students, about 1,500 are from out of state and about 4,500 are from the state of Georgia. Twenty-six per cent of the men are Greeks.

Twenty-five fraternities, including four professional fraternities, occupy houses on campus. Three of the fraternities rent houses directly from the University with no equity. Twelve fraternities rent houses on University property with some being partly financed by the University. Two fraternities rent houses in the town of Athens with no ownership or equity by the University. Eight fraternities own their own houses.

The present Sigma Phi Epsilon house is rented from the University. Members are looking to build or relocate in order to build at a future date, however, the University is presently checking into a plan to bring the fraternities and sororities together on a Greek Row.

Fraternities came to the University of Georgia almost in its beginning, but were mainly literary in nature instead of social. In general the present fraternity system began just at the close of the Civil War, with the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity claiming to have had the first meeting in the Fall of 1865. The fraternity system has always been recognized as a policy-making agency at the University. The University of Georgia has committed itself to the use of fraternities as housing units, for the University will lend a fraternity its trust funds for construction of two-thirds of the value of any house or final estimated value of a building. In recent years, four houses have been built on the campus under the trust fund loan plan. The Interfraternity Council is the co-ordinating body of the University fraternities.

The Colony

The Sigma Phi Epsilon Colony at Georgia was formally founded in the last week of September, 1961, and began its existence with nine pledges: Charles E. Anderson, Jackie G. Elrod, Nace E. Simpson, III, John W. Singletary, Carlton F. Smith, Will H. Whitlock, Jr., John R. Stevens, Jr., John R. Abernathy, and William K. LeCain—and two transfer brothers: Alan S. Hicks from West Virginia Gamma, and Henry Christopher Tiller from North Carolina Epsilon.

The first quarter of the colony's existence ended with the membership slightly more than doubled by a series of weekly rush programs. The fraternity's finances were in the black, and the fraternity's name was becoming known.

The colony took two steps forward during the winter quarter. The first step was the initiation of the first colony Active group, with nine members: John R. Stevens, Jr., John R. Abernathy, Thomas H. Malone, William Harold J. Pratt, David K. Clark, Paul H. Poppell, Donald A. Davis, and John D. Furman. The second step forward was the creation of a meal program at the house. Two meals a day were served at a cost of fifty dollars a month. The quarter ended with the membership at 21.

After fall rush, 1962, membership reached 31 men.

Chapter Counselor is Lyle W. R. Jackson, Minnesota, '25. Dr. Jackson came to Georgia with the Forestry Service (U.S.D.A.) in 1941. He became a member of the faculty of the School of Forestry at the University in 1947.

Educating

The concepts of instructing fraternity pledges are changing rapidly, just as concepts of values generally are changing for American society for Brotherhood

By BILL WINSLADE

MONMOUTH COLLEGE

As college fraternities attempt to adapt their operations to changing conditions, better methods are required to fulfill new needs. An illustration of this is the significance of pledge education in contrast to pledge training.

In the past few years Illinois Gamma's pledge program has provided an opportunity for pledges to prepare for active membership as well as initiation. What does this mean? In short, it gives a pledge reasons to become a member—not merely to cease being a pledge.

Before explaining how the pledge program operates at Monmouth, I will present some significant local facts which might differentiate our campus from other schools.

"THE intrinsic values of fraternity life are focused in the pledge program at Illinois Gamma, where pledge education and pledge training are complementary," states Bill Winslade, Monmouth College senior from Carlenville, Ill. Philosophy major Bill has been pledge educator for two years; previous house offices were scholarship chairman, rush chairman, and senior marshal. His campus activities include Blue Key, Pi Gamma Mu, the golf team, M-Club, and the Oracle staff.

Since all men must live in dormitories their freshman year, pledges eat but do not sleep in the houses. When three ten-week terms and deferred rush beginning after the first term, the five fraternities on campus have made other adjustments in their operations.

The purpose of pledging is to prepare a man simultaneously for initiation and active membership. To accomplish this, pledge training alone is not sufficient; following rules, working around the house, learning pledge material—all these are necessary but not sufficient to prepare a man for the elevation from pledge to member.

Similarly, a pledge can be psychologically conditioned to become an active by making him despise being a pledge. This may prepare a pledge for initiation, but does it equip him for real membership? The answer to this is obviously “No,” but not in an unqualified sense. A certain amount of pledge training in manners and social graces, as well as in fraternity lore, is necessary, but at best only a beginning.

Too often pledges tend to assume that if they can fulfill all requirements, they are ready for active membership. To explode this myth and simultaneously to prepare a man not only for initiation, but also for active membership, more is needed.

Illinois Gamma has discovered and utilized a concept of pledge education which includes, but transcends, pledge training. At the same time this program is geared to operate more consistently with the principles and ideals of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

How does this idea of pledge education work? Emphasis on individual development is not a myth at Illinois Gamma; most “requirements” have been put on a voluntary basis. Our philosophy is that when a man comes to college, his personality is fairly well developed. We encourage a pledge to follow his own interest; we do not impose activities upon him.

Every pledge is exposed to the various facets of fraternity life, but we do not “spoon feed” pledges. In every respect pledges are treated like men, yet they retain the identity of pledges. The obvious consequence is that actives, while they have a superior status in the system, have no prerogatives as men. For example, such things as personal servitude are prohibited.

The pledge class is organized along the lines of a small-scale active chapter. Through preliminary introduction to internal operations of the fraternity system, by the time a pledge is initiated, he is ready immediately to become an active member. Why is this true? The primary reason is that when pledges are given freedom balanced by responsibility, the active chapter is able to see which men can produce. In this way the pledges are forced to cope with some of the realistic problems of fraternity life. The losers eliminate themselves.

Pledge material is used to stimulate pledges to reflect on the value, not just the facts, of fraternity life. On pledge tests, discussion questions are used to make a pledge organize his thoughts. Essays are assigned periodically for a similar purpose. Outside speakers present further perspectives and an effective big brother system with weekly written reports rounds out the essentials of the pledge program.

In summary, pledge education emphasizes the intrinsic value of fraternity life. A pledge is prepared for initiation as he fulfills the necessary requirements, but he is also prepared for active membership as he learns why Sigma Phi Epsilon exists.

Thus the pledge has the dignity of a man, the status of a pledge, and the experience and understanding to be worthy of brotherhood in Sigma Phi Epsilon.

CHAPTER COUNSELOR, FERRIS INSTITUTE

IN THIS DAY when compact cars are the style, Sig Eps can get a compact "tour of Europe," complete with a compact boat trip, when they attend the jampacked 28th Conclave at Mackinac Island, Mich., August 30-September 2.

For truly when one steps off the launch onto the island between Michigan's two peninsulas, he feels that he has stepped into a European principality, straight from the pages of a romance—perhaps Grand Fenwick, the mouse that roared, or more tangibly a Monaco. Even the Chamber of Commerce refers to Mackinac Island as the Bermuda of the North.

Or if you are one who prefers to "buy America," then consider Mackinac Island's three centuries of significance to American history and untold centuries prior to that as Michilimackinac, the great turtle, of a nation of Indians. (From the air Mackinac Island does look like a turtle, but how could the Indians have known that? They believed that it rose from the water by supernatural means.)

Paradoxically the European flavor is the direct result of American history in the making—a history steeped in French and British mores.

Your history books tell you about Samuel de Champlain and the One Hundred Associates Company, which was chartered by France's King Louis XIII, and granted forever all of Quebec, all of New France, which included Michilimackinac, a vast territory around the Great Lakes and the Island, and Florida. In 1627 Louis gave the company almost sovereign power, and Champlain became the first governor of Canada.

Two years later the British captured all of this territory, but the whole country was returned in 1632 by treaty, and Champlain was again in command of Quebec and New France.

It was at this time that Jean Nicolet was instructed by Champlain to travel with a group of Hurons (who had come to Quebec to trade) to the southern extent of New France and to make a treaty with the Indians there.

In 1634, then, Nicolet became the first white man to view the Island of Michilimackinac. For the next 30 years the French continued to advance down through the continent from bases north of the Great Lakes; and the English, and the Dutch, and the Spanish, and the Portuguese followed them.

History next reports Father Jacques Marquette's founding the first mission on the

Stepping Stone to History

Straits of Mackinac nearly 300 years ago, in 1671.

The fame of the discoveries of Father Marquette and Louis Joliet fired the mind of Robert Cavelier LaSalle, in command of Fort Frontenac, Canada. He obtained a concession from Count Frontenac and another from the French King which allowed him, within the territory which he discovered, the exclusive trade of buffalo and other articles. His goal was to find the legendary Father of Waters, the Mississippi, and to eradicate Spain's faint claim to it. Although he never found the Mississippi, he charted the course for the explorers who followed.

Thus you might say that Mackinac Island was the stepping stone to the interior of the present United States.

Several decades later with the victory of the English on the Plains of Abraham in 1759, the Province of Michilimackinac was transferred to Britain, but the French inhabitants remained, and the effects of their civil institutions and religion remained very much in evidence.

In 1765 Major Robert Rogers made famous by Kenneth Robert's Northwest Passage took command of the Fort, by this time shortened to Mackinac (pronounced mack'-i-naw and spelled Mackinaw in adjacent localities). Fort Mackinac, second oldest fort in the United States, is located 133 feet above the Straits of Mackinac and commands the town and harbor of Mackinac. The stone walls and blockhouses of the Fort still stand and are one of the picturesque features of the Island.

At the close of the Revolutionary War, the independence of the United States was acknowledged, and the post of Mackinac Island with others became part of the republic. But it did not lose its continental flavor.

During the War of 1812, Mackinac Island was captured by the British and throughout the war the Island was the field of fierce battles between the British and the Americans until the Treaty of Ghent in 1814, when the war was ended.

Foreseeing the potential of the Great Lakes region, John Jacob Astor, who had founded the American Fur Company in New York in 1808, sent his agents westward to locate a trading post. They chose Mackinac Island, and about 1822 a trading post was built. At the height of its success, the American Fur Company and its subsidiaries employed four hundred clerks at Mackinac Island. The site of the trading post is still one of the features of the Island.

By 1836 Mackinac Island was beginning to be known as a summer resort.

Many of the officers who acquired high rank and distinction during the war between the states, 1861-65, either in the Union or Southern army, had seen training on the Island as young officers. But during the war all troops were withdrawn, and the Island was made a place of confinement for some of the Confederate prisoners, principally notable officers.

In the last century Mackinac Island has changed little. Automobiles are banned from the Island; and transportation is by horse-drawn vehicle or bicycle. One of the interesting Sunday sights is to see women wearing white gloves, high heels, flowered hats, and other finery cycling to church.

In the Harbor of Haldimand Bay various types of craft lie at anchor—small power boats, luxurious yachts, lake-going steamers.

The main street, once the market place for the Great Lakes fur traders, still remains a sight-seeing spot where shops carry a diversity of items, not always found in the supermarket or the five and dime.

Two historic houses occupy prominent places on the Island. One is the home of Edward Biddle, purchased in the 1820s. The other is the home of Dr. William Beaumont, who made a historic discovery of the digestive processes in 1822 when he treated a soldier—Alexis St. Martin—who had received a gunshot wound in the abdomen. During the course of his long treatment, Dr. Beaumont observed the digestive processes by keeping a flap open in St. Martin's stomach.

There is a parade ground which resounded to the steps of marching soldiers until 1895. There are soldier's barracks, built in 1858, and there are blockhouses from the original fort of 1780, which are among the oldest surviving buildings in Michigan.

Atop the hill, looking for all the world like the chateau of the ruler of the principality, is the Grand Hotel, headquarters for the Conclave, opened on July 10, 1887.

The Grand Hotel does not have a red door, but it does have a red-carpeted stairway to welcome you at the entrance.

Most famous feature of the hotel is the world's longest porch, a promenade 880 feet in length, 100 feet above the water, framed with majestic white pillars, commanding a scene of grandeur enhanced by the boats plying the Straits at slow tempo.

Below are nearly 500 acres of sunken gardens, curving beach, and a serpentine-shaped, turquoise pool where bathers sun and swim.

Exposure to the atmosphere of such a place is an extra bonus for Sig Eps, good training for the days when you will be doctor, lawyer, merchant, industrialist, engineer, or educator—the kind of professional Sig Ep men become—and attend your first important meeting in a plush hotel.

Sig Eps will get an additional benefit in a view of the mighty Mackinaw Bridge, one of the engineering masterpieces of the century, which crosses the Straits joining Lake Huron and Lake Michigan. Much more modern, the Mackinaw Bridge parallels in size and fame the Golden Gate Bridge of San Francisco. It may be your one chance to see $96,400,033.33 in one pile of concrete and steel. The Conclave will end just about in time for the annual treat of opening the bridge to pedestrian traffic. Since there are so many requests for permission to walk across the five-mile span, the bridge is opened for a few hours on Labor Day for the rugged to walk across. Thousands do.

For your trip to the Conclave, you will need dress bermudas and sport shirts, casual slacks and sweater, a suit or dress slacks and a conservative sport jacket, naturally white shirts and ties, swimming trunks and a sweatshirt or some other topper.

Before the days of air-conditioning, the area around Mackinac Island was particularly famous as a summer resort. Mackinac Island itself was probably the Newport of the Middle West. Here the moneyed families maintained summer homes where mother and the children spent the season, and father commuted on weekends.

★ NEW FRONTIER SEMINAR ★

CHAPTER counselors and district governors, as part of the responsibility of the positions they hold, are expected to make arrangements to attend a two-day training session at the Mackinac Island Conclave, Thursday and Friday, August 29-30.

The program of a "new frontier" seminar was especially planned by members of the National Leadership Training Committee at a recent meeting with the National Headquarters staff in St. Louis. It is a NEW training program tailored to the responsibilities which chapter Counselors and District Governors must discharge during their tenure of office. Certain of the sessions will be held separately for the two groups where the subject indicates a different interest level.

Per-mile transportation charges and other expenses incidental to attendance at the two-day Seminar, including lodging and meals, will be met by the Grand Chapter.

Every Chapter Counselor and District Governor is urged to make immediate plans to be present. The ways and means of attendance have been prepared, the responsibility to attend rests with those who plan to conduct their work and fill their positions effectively in the coming years.

A welcoming reception will be held for the participants in the Seminar, and their wives, by the Board of Directors Wednesday evening. Working sessions will be held from 8:30 to 5:00 PM Thursday and Friday. Subjects to be covered in the sessions will include Governor and Counselor responsibilities, Morals, Membership, National Headquarters, and those areas of most concern to the undergraduate chapter: Scholarship, Pledge Education, Rushing, Finances, etc.

A schedule of activities will be planned for the ladies while the men are in working sessions. Additional costs for wives and children will be announced. If there are any questions or suggestions with regard to the Seminar or personal arrangements, please contact the Governor in your district, or National Headquarters, Richmond, Va.

If personal arrangements can be made, Counselors and Governors are urged to count on remaining to participate in the events of the 28th Grand Chapter Conclave.

—R. ERIC WEISE

★ ENTER YOUR PAPER ★

EDITORS of chapter newspapers are urged to enter the Benjamin Hobson Frayser competition for the best undergraduate paper published during the 1962-63 term. Please send at least one copy—preferably two—of any one issue—preferably two—to the Editor of the JOURNAL, at 744 Lake Crest Drive, Menasha, Wis.

The winner will be announced at the Conclave. The Frayser Award for the 1960-61 and 1961-62 terms was won by Monmouth's Straight from the Heart.

Even though this is late August and early September, the temperature at Mackinac Island is not as warm as you might expect at Richmond, Va.; thus you are encouraged to bring a sweater for a night time walk and a sweatshirt to put on after your swim.

But you need not bring mosquito repellent or hay fever remedy. Composed of rock, Mackinac Island is free of swamps, mosquitoes, polluted waters, and irritant pollens.

The hotel has a golf course and a tennis court and all sorts of other recreational facilities; and you are encouraged to bring along whatever equipment you might use.

Remember, however, to pack your gear so that it is easily portable because you will leave your car either at Mackinaw City or St. Ignace—the cities south and north of the bridge—and go by boat to Mackinac Island.

At the Conclave you will exchange brotherhood with Sig Eps from throughout the land; you will participate in meetings vital to your development as a chapter and as men; you will enjoy the fellowship of the sixty-second anniversary banquet and the awards banquet; you will get to hear the eloquence of the Grand Chapter officers; you can compete with your scrapbooks and newsletters; you can view ritualistic equipment and local rushing, pledging, and alumni publications; you will have time for fun things—swimming, golfing, tennis, etc.; you will engage in bull sessions about chapter problems and things that have nothing whatever to do with Sigma Phi Epsilon; you will receive a Conclave favor—a commemorative bas-relief medal of heavy silver, suitable for a paperweight.

The Conclave traditionally is a family affair, and there will be Sig Eps wives present for whom special ladies' events have been planned, plus there will be available to them all of the tour, sightseeing, recreational and shopping facilities that the Island offers.

The pre-Conclave reception is Friday afternoon August 30. Sessions start in earnest Friday evening and close Monday morning, September 2. The Anniversary Banquet is Saturday night, August 31, and the Awards Banquet, Sunday.

At the close of this year's season, a new date of significance will be etched on Mackinac Island's history—1963, the Sig Eps were here . . . for the twenty-eighth Grand Chapter Conclave.

Headquarters

Heartbeat

An Invitation I HOPE you will come by and visit the National Headquarters the next time you are in the Richmond area. Richmond is close to Washington, D.C., and many other points of interest, so you can plan your vacation or business trip to include a tour of the many historical points of interest in Virginia and nearby areas.

The fraternity office is located at 209 West Franklin Street just a few blocks from downtown, within easy walking distance. You can quickly spot the Headquarters by the two flags—United States and Fraternity—which frame the doorway.

You will further recognize the office when you see the traditional Red Doors which denote warm friendship and hospitality. The VIP treatment reserved for you includes a tour of the William L. Phillips Room with its historical memorabilia, of the Chapter Services department, and of the Membership Records department where you will check your data records to insure that they are precisely correct. Many visiting brothers, after seeing the daily work of the Fraternity, remark: "I never realized that we were such a big organization."

During your tour we will take your photograph which will later be sent to you as a souvenir of your visit to NHQ. Alumni members are given an additional souvenir—the official Ducal Crown Recognition Button.

Attention, Sig Ep Faculty Members IT WILL BE appreciated if you will mail to the National Headquarters, 209 West Franklin Street, Richmond 20, Va., your name, Chapter and class, stating the College or University where you are a faculty member. Also, please give Official title or department. The purpose of requesting this information is to compile a directory of Sig Ep educators.

Camp Fund YOUR support of the Camp Fund is appreciated; during its 13 years, nearly $50,000 has been distributed to nine summer camps for underprivileged boys throughout the country. The Fund's operation expense is paid by the Grand Chapter. This philanthropy—Sigma Phi Epsilon is the only fraternity sponsoring such a project—is worthy of your continuing support . . . your contribution can be mailed to the national headquarters.

Golden Heart Tours? WOULD YOU be interested in a Sigma Phi Epsilon tour of Europe or the Orient during the Summer of 1964? Several sororities and fraternities have found group tours rewarding, and maybe Golden Heart Tours could become a fine part of our program to keep the bond alive.

One advantage of group tours is economy; a group of twenty-five or more can take a 21-day grand tour of Europe for as little as $607 per person, round trip from New York City. For this amount, a reputable travel agency affords overseas transportation by DC-8 jetliners, ground transportation, hotel, food, tips, sightseeing trips, and taxes. A professional multilingual tour manager conducts the three-week excursion to London, Luxembourg, Brussels, Heidelberg, Munich, Innsbruck, Venice, Rome, Milan, Stresa, Lausanne, Bern, Dijon, Paris, and Versailles; then back to New York. And side trips are available.

This is only one proposed tour; another possibility is a tour of the Orient in '64 when the Summer Olympics will be held in Japan.

Frankly, I wonder what you think of the idea of Golden Heart Tours; if you are interested in this program, would you please write and tell me your suggestions about preferred itinerary, desired length of tour, favored side trips, etc.

Peregrinations Darrel D. Brittsan, Director of Chapter Services, will be visiting several West Coast chapters during his sojourn to attend to the charter installation of the University of California at Davis Colony, scheduled for May 11. The Assistant Director of Chapter Services, Robert L. Kirkpatrick, will be visiting Midwest and Southern chapters during April and May in connection with his area of primary responsibility, working with chapter housing programs. Chapter visitations of the Staff Representatives scheduled for May until end of session include:

HENRY K. BENSON, III—Long Beach Colony (May 4 is the scheduled date for charter installation of the Colony); Southern California; San Diego; following the San Diego visit, Hank will return to the East Coast to report to the Army.

HENRY H. HALL—Baker; Wichita; Emporia; Drury; Southwest Missouri State; Missouri Mines; Missouri, Washington U. (St. Louis); senior Staff Representative Hank has not announced his next year's plans.

JOHN H. MARSHALL—Valparaiso; Illinois Tech; Purdue; Indiana State (Terre Haute); John plans to be with our staff again next year.

TED F. STRAUB—Memphis State; Mississippi, Mississippi State; Alabama; Auburn; Ted has not announced his next year's plans.

CHARLES N. WHITE, JR.—M.I.T.; Massachusetts; Syracuse; Rensselaer; Vermont; Maine; Dartmouth; veteran Chuck plans to be with our staff again next year.

Opportunities For recent or new graduates, the position of Staff Representative is a challenging one, with an opportunity second to none for gaining valuable business and Fraternity experience while earning an attractive salary. Undergraduates or graduate student leaders can find challenge and opportunity in demonstrating their abilities while serving as a Resident Counselor for a chapter needing special guidance; a Resident Counselor receives up to a $500 cash grant from the Fraternity and usually free meals and lodging. If you are qualified or want more information write to me.

Dubach Film IN COMPLIANCE with 27th Grand Chapter Resolution No. 52, an address on Fraternity Leadership by Dr. U. G. Dubach was filmed at a Cleveland movie studio last summer. The film has now been approved, and prints of the outstanding 30-minute, 16 mm., color film can be purchased from the National Headquarters for $135 each, post-paid. The Fraternity gave print No. 1 to Dr. Dubach as a token of appreciation for his many fine efforts in serving Sigma Phi Epsilon.

New Hit Song Woody Herman, Kansas, sent all chapters a free autographed copy of his special 25th anniversary album "Woody Herman 1963" which contains his new hit song entitled "Sig Ep."

He has also offered to donate the services of himself and his entire band to play a benefit Fraternity concert dance date—the entire proceeds to benefit the William L. Phillips Foundation, which provides scholarships for worthy Sig Eps. Moreover, Woody made arrangements with the record manufacturer to allow a discount on all "Woody Herman 1963" albums sold by the Fraternity so that the net proceeds could be put into a building fund for a new headquarters building. You can order the album through National Headquarters; please enclose payment and specify either Monaural ($3.98) or Stereophonic ($4.98) recording.

Housing Goals Closer OUR chapters collectively will be $47,790 closer to new-housing goals when that amount, the chapters' Fixed Deposit, is paid into the Chapter Investment Fund (CIF). CIF deposits remain the sole property of the chapter, being invested with all income reinvested until needed for new housing. A long-range program, the Fixed Deposit is only $5 for each active and pledge in the chapter as of March 1; of course, the chapter may make additional deposits to its account—the alumni householding corporation, too—and thus secure professional management.

Regular quarterly reports are made of the CIF's operation. The March 31 report shows the total market value of all shares stood at $793,879.92 (all investable funds of the Fraternity are in the CIF, in addition to the chapters' deposits) which is an increase from the December 31 valuation of $745,001.00. The per-share value increased to $5.28 from $5.05 during the same period.

Dividing the total Fixed Deposit by $5 shows there were 9,558 actives and pledges in our chapters on March 1. Other interesting statistics: nearly 68,000 initiates listed in the General Roll Book; a total of 159 undergraduate chapters (and two more colonies are scheduled to be installed in May) throughout 44 states and the District of Columbia; and nearly 3,000 members will be initiated during the 1962-63 session.

It's YOUR Conclave AFTER reading this issue's Conclave article written by Joe Deupree, Michigan Zeta Chapter Counselor, you'll want to be there when the gavel signals the opening session of the 28th Grand Chapter Conclave on Friday evening, August 30, at the Grand Hotel, Mackinac Island, Mich. The Grand Chapter in conclave is a thrilling personal experience . . . here you sense and can almost feel the dynamic pulsing of our great Fraternity's heart.

Here you'll find a panoply of exhibits and displays . . . scrapbooks . . . rushing booklets . . . pledge education supplements . . . newsletters . . . ritualistic paraphernalia . . . trophies . . . awards . . . float and party ideas. Here, too, you'll witness spirited competition as chapters vie for coveted "Best" awards.

Truly, attending a Conclave is an experience never to be forgotten. Undergraduates and perhaps some alumni from your chapter will be there. Why not plan to join them? The all-inclusive individual Registration Fee of only $75 defrays the costs of meals and lodging (double occupancy), State taxes, baggage transportation to and from the hotel, tips for normal services, PLUS admission to the 62nd Anniversary Banquet, to the Awards Banquet, and to all sessions of the Grand Chapter; and, you will receive the special Souvenir booklet-Conclave Program, the 28th Grand Chapter Printed Minutes, and the souvenir Conclave Favor.

Because the individual Registration Fee includes meals and lodging (two or more persons to a room), alumni members can receive a credit for the lodging portion of the fee if family or deluxe accommodations are needed. Until August 15, you can register by writing to the National Headquarters; after that date, you can register at the Conclave. All room reservations must be made direct with the hotel. Upon request, we will send you complete Conclave information by return mail.

ALL FRATERNITY LEADERSHIP

IN the current maelstrom of change on the higher educational scene in America, the fortunes of the college fraternity vary from campus to campus. Even on the same campus, the performance of the worst fraternity will vary considerably with the performance of the best. Unfortunately the image of the worst is the image which an uninformed public is quick to grasp.

Educators, editors, and spokesmen for the fraternities in other lines who believe deeply in the good of the Greek-letter societies all strive assiduously to educate the public. Fraternity leaders themselves spend much time, effort, and money trying to instruct their members as to their responsibility for making their respective fraternity chapters what they should be. They realize that the club type of chapter is a rotten apple.

Excellent examples of the kinds of help given the fraternities would fill volumes. There are good lessons to be learned from all of them for developing a more effective program of all-fraternity leadership.

Charles J. Hartman, Jr., assistant director for student affairs for men at Missouri and a former field secretary for Sigma Phi Epsilon, in February gave an interview to a Kansas City Star writer. The result was a full-page well-illustrated feature in that great newspaper which enabled its readers to gain an understanding of the service a good fraternity chapter performs for young men. It was titled "College Men Discover 'Home' in Fraternities." (See cut.) The Dean's Office and the newspaper collaborated to make this possible, as did the Missouri IFC.

OPPORTUNITIES for all-fraternity leadership were highlighted in an important conference held at Syracuse University last November, in which national secretaries of fraternities were included as participants. The significance of the meeting is explained in an editorial in Banta's Greek Exchange for January, 1963. Titled "The Coming Showdown," contrasting the unstable situation at Williams with that at Syracuse, it follows:

The recent decision of the Williams College trustees to take over the functions of the fraternities of providing board, room, and social activities is interpreted by David Boroff in a New York Times Magazine article. Entitled "Showdown on Fraternity Row," the article suggests that what has taken place in the form of a veritable upheaval on this campus is moving toward an upheaval stage in other places.

Commenting on the Williams affair in College and University Bulletin, Lewis B. Mayhew observes: "They say that a college education should be more than study—that it should teach the young to get along socially as well as intellectually. However, the change is here and is likely to be repeated on other campuses. For better or worse, the college has changed and the conditions now obtaining may well mean the end for the American fraternity system."

We are hopeful that some prescience at work in Mr. Mayhew's subconscious beguiled the cliché—"for better or worse"—out of his typewriter. We have italicized worse, because we think it is now apparent that a philosophy of higher education which seeks over-intellectualization and scorns brotherhood—the very thing that all this change in the world may really be about ("The hunger for brotherhood is at the bottom of the unrest of the world," says a character in Charles Rann Kennedy's play, The Servant in the House)—is headed the wrong way; that is, for worse.

There is something eccentric in the Williams situation which is delusive. A more authentic straw in the wind is provided by the Syracuse conference on fraternity appraisal held in November. Here both flesh and spirit were willing and strong, and administration, dean's office, fraternity national, alumnus, and undergraduate sat down together, and one common noble objective loomed in the mind's eye of all. Dr. Gordon A. Hoople, the chairman of the board of trustees, a most distinguished doctor of medicine and teacher of medicine, made a significant statement. He said: "My own sails would never have been set in the right direction if it were not for the fraternity system."

Russell Kirk in his book, The American Cause, makes the point that higher education in America does not serve its purpose unless it espouses the Judeo-Christian heritage as its key. To this we owe our basic concepts of freedom, duty, and the others, which rest on the fatherhood of God, the brotherhood of man, and the dignity of man.

These days one may read the most bewildering observations in the educational journals. In one place John D. Black, director of Stanford University's Counseling and Testing Center, is reported as saying: "If I read the sign aright, we're in for a vastly increasing mental health problem in our colleges and universities. The pressure on students to achieve intellectually has grown enormously." In another place, H. Kirk Dansereau, associate professor of sociology at Penn State, writes: "Fun orientation may conceivably prove to be the best possible preparation for a future in which work will contribute less and less to human satisfactions. . . Fun, not work, becomes the core around which one builds his personality."

Regardless of the ludicrous contradictions, we cannot escape the conclusion that the institutions which influence civilization are awlirl in a maelstrom of change. All face the same show-down—Alma Mater, Fraternity Row, and Man himself. Fraternity members have tried and true guidelines—their altars—they need but set their sails by them.

AN EXAMPLE of an incidental way the image of fraternity can be helped at the chapter level is the accomplishment of a new organization at Ohio Northern known as the Greek Chorus. It is described by Sig Ep Duane A. Drever in these words:

The Greek Chorus started out as experiment in the spring of 1961. Interested Greeks met once a week to rehearse and for the remainder of the school year it was merely a matter of seeing how much interest could be generated. Membership was limited to the eight social fraternities.

This year the group was recognized by the University. A first concert was given for one of the area service clubs. The next event, a performance at the annual Greek Sing, was well received, especially among members of the faculty who could remember the days when Ohio Northern had one of the finest glee clubs in the state. The administration expressed its approval by inviting the group to sing before the annual meeting of the administrations and faculties of Ohio Northern, Bluffton College, and Findlay College.

The Greek Chorus is striving for that excellence and perfection which characterizes a body of fraternity men. It is developing a repertoire in the traditional glee club lines and also in classic, folk, and religious music. It is scheduled to sing at the IFC Ball in May and is awaiting acceptance of an offer to sing at the banquet of the National Interfraternity Conference at New York in December.

DICK ERICKSON, editor of the California Monthly, gave the fraternities a firm endorsement in a leading editorial in the March issue titled "The Future of Fraternities and Sororities." Excerpts:

One thing is sure—the administrative leaders are strong advocates of fraternities and sororities. In discussions on this subject recently held with the Chancellor, a Vice-Chancellor, the Dean of Students, and other campus officials, I was impressed with their sincere concern over the problems of these living groups.

The quality of the houses rises and falls with its senior leadership. Without strong discipline and a good example set and administered by the senior men, these houses will be in for some real rough times. It is precisely at this juncture in life that important lessons are to be found and experience gained in leadership, business management, and assumption of responsibility that make fraternity living truly valuable. An understanding and appreciation of this role must be instilled in men from the beginning. . . .

There are many challenges to fraternities and sororities today. The men and women who must meet them are extremely capable and wise. I will bet on them.

Sig Epic ACHIEVEMENT

VOCATIONAL AND PROFESSIONAL ACHIEVEMENTS IN BRIEF

The Saturday Evening Post in February depended heavily on members of Sigma Phi Epsilon for feature stories. The first piece in the issue of February 2 is "Waste in the World of Diplomacy," by Ellis O. Briggs, Dartmouth, who served in the Department of State as a diplomat and ambassador for 37 years. Now retired and living in Hanover, Brother Briggs contends that ambassadors are shifted too much, many hold their positions by way of reward rather than ability and aptitude, in consequence of which Uncle Sam's job abroad is not being done at all well.

Roscoe Drummond, Syracuse, '24, is author of the opening article in the Post for February 9—"Congress Must Reform." Washington columnist for the New York Herald Tribune Syndicate, he has been re-

Judge Thomas H. Goodman, Tennessee, '26, named to new government post in Georgia.

★ porting the Washington scene since 1940, with two years off as director of information for the Marshall Plan. He was formerly a political writer for the Christian Science Monitor. "Our legislators are frittering away their power and shirking their duty," contends the author. He bewails the fact that the nation appears to have turned to the President, rather than to Congress, to rule. "The Congress of the United States has virtually lost its capacity to transact the public business. Senate and House are both woefully incapable of transacting this business carefully, responsibly, and efficiently," he writes.

Ben Hibbs, Kansas, '23, former editor of the Post, contributes "Progress Goes Marching Through Georgia" in the issue of February 16. The author describes the "striking record of progress and modernization" made by the state of Georgia in the past 20 years.

AMONG the nation's lawmakers, Congressman Walter Rogers, Texas, of the 18th district of Texas, has been finding increased responsibilities in the nation's capital. He has become a member of some rather powerful committees.

He is chairman of the Irrigation and Reclamation subcommittee of the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee of the Congress. This subcommittee of which he is chairman has to do with the establishment of all recreation and conservation areas. He is also a member of the subcommittees on Mines and Mining, and Territorial and Insular Affairs, of the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee. He is also on the subcommittees on Communications and Power, and Regulatory Agencies, of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce.

ously served as regional director of the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization.

He has been assistant attorney general for Tennessee, circuit judge of the third judicial district of Tennessee, judge of the Tennessee Court of Appeals, and a justice of the United States Court of Appeals for Germany.

During World War II he served on the staffs of Gen. James Doolittle, Gen. Tooey Spaatz, and Gen. Nathan Twining in the Northwest African Air Force, the 12th Air Force, and the 15th Air Force.

He holds the French Croix de Guerre with Palm, the Commendation Medal from General H. H. Arnold, and the Legion of Merit. He served in five major campaigns, including the invasions of North Africa, Sicily, Italy, and France.

TOM EWELL, Wisconsin, '31, veteran comedian and character actor of TV, movie, and stage fame, was recently presented the Distinguished Alumnus Award of the Wisconsin chapter. A delegation of chapter members traveled to the Pabst Theater in Milwaukee to see Ewell (known to his classmates in '31 as Sam Tompkins) star in the stage production Take Her—She's Mine, a light comedy about the family of an errant college coed. After the show, Ewell met the chapter delegation in his dressing room where, after a hearty visit, chapter president Ron Dvorachek surprised him with the Award.

ONE of the nonacting contributors to the success of the new movie, How the West Was Won, was Walter Plunkett, California, the talented MGM costume designer who created hundreds of outfits for the sparkling cinerama which stars Debbie Reynolds.

Plunkett is a Motion Picture Academy Award winner who has costumed numerous history-making pictures such as Gone With the Wind. He won the Oscar for his work on An American in Paris.

He says that the smart and current leather styles have descended from the hide clothes of the Indians and frontier times. In How the West Was Won, the costumes which he designed for James Stewart and Henry Fonda include all-leather suits.

STANLEY J. BOWERS, Ohio Northern, '39, who has held the post of tax commissioner of the state of Ohio under four governors—for a total of 30 years of service—has become a private practitioner of law with the firm of Caren & Bowers, Columbus.

RICHARD H. LEONARD, Wisconsin, '43, has been elevated from the post of state news editor of the Milwaukee, Wis., Journal to that of managing editor. He joined the Journal as a reporter in 1947, having served as executive editor of the Daily Cardinal, his alma mater's student newspaper.

A PAIR of Milwaukee alumni of the Wisconsin chapter recently in the news are Kurt Krahn, '52, public relations manager for Wisconsin Blue Cross, who was elected president of the Wisconsin Industrial Editors Association; and Rudolph Heiser, '53, who was named "Salesman of the Year" by the Milwaukee Sales Executives Club. Both Krahn and Heiser are on the Blue Cross staff. Krahn is director of final judging for the evaluation and awards program of the International Council of Industrial Editors.

EVENTS OF DISTINCTION IN THE EDUCATIONAL FIELD

Western Michigan University's Dean of Men J. TOWNER SMITH, who was initiated by the Western Michigan Sig Eps March 4 in Kanley Chapel, is an educator of many accomplishments who has been very much in the campus eye and in the Sig Ep eye.

The Dean, a '24 graduate, from 1928 until 1942 coached track at Western where he himself previously made a name as a sprinter. He converted this experience into a book, Track and Field Athletics. From 1943-46, he COMDR. JOHN A. HARKINS, Delaware, '39, until recently commander of Carrier Anti-submarine Air Group 50, has reported to the U.S.S. Kearsarge as executive officer.

The commander, a graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy, '43, has been served in the fixed wing component of his air group, by an Auburn Sig Ep—LT. WILLIAM E. GILCHRIST, '57, who is qualified to fly the twin-engine S-2f Tracker from carrier both day and night.

During his four years in VS-30, Lt. Gilchrist has been personnel officer in the administrative department and the airframes division officer in the maintenance department.

BRIG. GEN. JACKSON GRAHAM, Oregon State, '36, who entered the Army Corps of Engineers as a second lieutenant from his alma mater's ROTC, took over a billion dollar a year job at Washington, D.C., in March.

In his new assignment as director of civil works for the Corps of Engineers, General Graham supervises a nationwide program of water resources development, including navigation, flood control, and power dams. He is also expected to move up to the two-star rank of major general, for which he was recently nominated.

General Graham for the past two years has been division engineer of the Ohio River Division at Cincinnati, which has some 25 dams under construction in the Ohio River Basin.

He was Portland District Engineer from September, 1955, to July, 1958. Between that assignment and his appointment as Ohio River Division engineer, which came with his promotion from colonel to brigadier general, he attended the National War College and served in Germany as corps engineer of the Fifth U. S. Army Corps.

He joins Parker W. Borg, Dartmouth, '61, who is teaching English in the Philippines, and John Coe, Dartmouth, '62, who is teaching music in Ethiopia.

Good of THE ORDER

D. Eugene Valentine, Utah State, has been named governor of Utah-Wyoming district.

DOINGS IN THE DISTRICTS

Utah School

The District 25 leadership school was held April 20-21 at Salt Lake City, with Utah as the host chapter. Utah officers assumed an important role in the program. The slate includes president, Russ McClellan; vice-president, Frank Rowland; controller, Alan Lee; recorder, Bruce Woodbury; and secretary, Joe Wayman.

Also in attendance were representatives from Idaho State and Utah State.

Discussions were held concerning scholarship, rush, finance, pledge training, and chapter administration.

A banquet held in the Panorama Room of the Union Building and an initiation closed the program. Jerry Sherratt, the University's Staff Associate to the fraternity system, a member of Sigma Nu, was a guest.

A New Face in Utah

D. Eugene Valentine, Utah State, '61, of Logan, Utah, counselor of his chapter, succeeds John E. Moray as District 25 governor, encompassing the Idaho State, Utah State, and Utah chapters.

An outstanding leader during his campus career, Valentine served his chapter as pledge trainer and president. He was also IFC representative and chairman of the by-laws and Heart Fund committees. His outstanding work at the 1959 and 1961 Conclaves brought his abilities to the attention of national leaders who gave him a job as a member of the Permanent Ritual Committee.

Following his graduation from Utah State, where he participated in the symphonic orchestra and band and was a member of the Union Building planning board and fine arts committee, Valentine became associated with Booz, Allen & Hamilton, management consultants, in New York. His present position is that of technical writer with the Wasatch division of Thiokol Chemical Corporation, Brigham City, Utah, where he resides at 35 West First Street South. His hobbies are reading, writing, and fishing. One of the youngest district governors ever to serve, he is 25 years old and unmarried.

Nebraska School

Chapter leaders in District 20 convened for an officers' training school at Lincoln, Neb., April 6, with Nebraska Alpha as host chapter.

Dean Dubach was the principal speaker at the dinner. Undergraduate speaker at the dinner was Douglas Billings of Iowa Zeta who spoke on Fraternity Ideals and what they mean to a chapter. He received the Award Plaque for Outstanding Service, being the outstanding chapter president in the district in furthering not only the Fraternity but all fraternity ideals and goals.

School in Carolina

At the District 5 Leadership School held at Wake Forest March 9, Grand President Bedford W. Black and Dean Charles Henderson of the University of North Carolina gave talks at the banquet for participating brothers.

Resignation in Iowa

At Iowa, Chapter Counselor T. Reginald Porter, Nebraska, '34, has resigned the post after six years of devoted service. As head of the general science department at University High School, he will still be close to the chapter.

The Iowa Sig Eps paid tribute to him and gave him a gift at a special dinner at the house on March 13.

His successor is Noel Willis, Nebraska, '47.

David Frosehauer, representing the "Younger Iowa City Alumni," writes: "Dr. Porter has served his fraternity at all levels, national, district and local, working hand in hand with pledges, actives, alumni and the national staff. In his six years serving Iowa Gamma, he has built the chapter from the unknown to the top at the University of Iowa. His work is greatly appreciated by the many men who have passed through the halls during his tenure. In recognition of his work, the chapter presented him with an unabridged dictionary. This gift represents his intelligent ideas to improve Sig Ep, and his devotion to his profession, that of educating us all. We extend our sincerest appreciation."

Guess who is crowning Clara Rikard sweetheart of District 5 of the Carolina Ball?

representative for N.C. State, was crowned as the sweetheart by Grand President Bedford W. Black. Trophies were given to the North Carolina State chapter for the most improved chapter in the past year, and to Atlantic Christian for chapter achievement. After the formal ball at the Jack Tar Hotel, a combo party was held.

A Day for Charlie

Sig Eps from District 5 chapters were invited by the North Carolina chapter to participate in the annual revival of "Charlie's Day," Saturday, April 26, in honor of Dean of Student Affairs Charles Henderson.

A weekend of fun was kicked off with a juke box party Friday night for those chapters that came to make a long weekend of it. A picnic was held Saturday afternoon along with a round robin softball tournament. The victors won an all-expense paid weekend. After a buffet supper Saturday night, everyone attended a combo party in the social room of the Delta house. Pledges got to throw all brothers who became pinned during the year into the lake.

Revelry in the Rockies

Men from the five Colorado chapters—Colorado, Denver, Mines, State, and Greeley—and one Wyoming chapter, attended the third annual dinner-dance of District 15 on February 27, at the Malibu Motor Hotel in Denver. Approximately 120 men from the six chapters in the district attended with the men of Colorado School of Mines in charge.

REGIONAL REVELRY AND RIVALRY

Carolina Ball

The Carolina Ball is Sigma Phi Epsilon's most eminent single social event. For the 1963 renewal of the Ball, North Carolina State Sig Eps on March 16 played host to Sig Eps from every chapter of District 5. On Friday night, individual chapters had parties at their houses, and Saturday afternoon at 3:00 they met at the Holiday Inn in Durham for a combo party.

Soon after dinner the chapters competed in the sing contest, and the Davidson chapter won for the second year in a row.

Immediately afterward, Clara Rikard, the rep-

Pledge study session at North Texas State—minimum of six hours a week—is conducted like study hall under expert supervision.

Indiana State Day

Representatives from the six Indiana chapters—Purdue, Indiana, Ball State, Terre Haute, Evansville, and Valparaiso—participated in a program of festivities and discussion, culminated by a banquet, at Indiana State Day in Indianapolis on March 16.

♥ PROCEDURES FOR BETTER OPERATION

Pledge Education

Central Michigan University Sig Eps initiated a new pledge program which adopts the super-pledge. Instead of the pledges being initiated into the chapter the semester of pledging, a pledge formal is substituted. Formal initiation will be delayed until the following semester when it has been confirmed by the school that the pledge has maintained a 2.0 over-all. This system has been initiated to maintain scholarship within the chapter, eliminate pledging as an excuse for poor grades, and to strengthen the fraternity by having men more able to contribute time to the chapter. If the pledge fails to maintain a 2.0 over-all he retains the status of super-pledge until he does so.

At Kansas, as a pledge project the pledges were told that they could do anything they desired that would benefit the physical appearance of the house. So, the pledges chose to refinish all of the chairs in the dining room. (Not repaint, but refinish.) They got together during the week-long semester break and began working. They kept on working nearly every minute of every day right up until the day classes started. Altogether, a total of 660 man-hours—that is, 10 hours per chair—were put into this project. The results were beautiful.

But the most important thing is that the pledges could easily have chosen a project requiring only a full day's work. Instead, through their own zeal to make Sigma Phi Epsilon great, they were able to carry out a super-project. And it was through their own enthusiasm that they supplied the initiative to complete the project. The active members of the chapter did not find it necessary to keep telling them to get to work. The best part of the whole story is that this kind of spirit cannot help but carry over into other fraternity undertakings and further its greatness.

—JAMES P. NORDSTROM

At Kentucky, pledge educators Bob Rummel and John Morley have been instrumental in initiating a superior pledge scholarship program. The program has been planned and calculated to inform the pledges of the importance and necessity of scholarship and instill in them the qualities necessary to achieve academic success. The program has as its ultimate purpose the improvement of the entire fabric of scholarship in the chapter.

The basic tool of the program is the scholarship form which is a form submitted by the pledges to their instructors and professors bimonthly. The form consists of blanks for the instructors to fill in the number of weeks the course has been in session, the grade for tests and required work for each week, the resulting over-all grade, and the number of cuts the pledge has taken. The form also includes space for the professor's and the big brother's comments. With the aid of these forms the big brother can diagnose areas of weakness and provide the pledge with academic assistance.

If the big brother finds he cannot provide the assistance necessary for improvement in the week area, a scholarship review board has been set up, consisting of the scholarship chairman, the pledge educator, a chapter officer and the alumni adviser, whose job it is to meet with the big brother and the pledge in an attempt to remedy the pledge's problems and provide accelerated academic assistance.

While it is not the duty of this committee to penalize the pledge, continued bad grades are reviewed by the board and the findings are taken to the executive board for consideration. If, after examination, the executive board finds the pledge to be continually lethargic, apathetic, and defective academically, he is dropped from the rolls.

The program, which also includes lectures and talks by faculty members on various topics of scholarship, has thus far been an encouraging success. It is the only one of its kind on a campus of 19 fraternities and, although it is still in its early stages, has been greeted with praise and met with avid co-operation from the professors involved.

Kentucky Alpha is proud that it has evolved such a successful program. We believe that if this program were adopted universally, it would not only improve the image of Sigma Phi Epsilon in the public eye, but the fraternity image as a whole.

... in Corpore Sano

The much heralded hiking phase of President Kennedy's physical fitness program was acknowledged by Thiel Sig Eps on Sunday, February 24, when a group of the hardier members of the chapter set out on a 50-mile walk from Greenville to Meadville and back. Fourteen men began the hike at 6:45 A.M., and four walked the entire distance, arriving back in Greenville shortly after 10:30 that evening.

Bad weather hampered the hikers, as the temperature ranged between 20 and 30 degrees, accompanied by heavy winds and intermittent snow squalls. The route chosen was a much-traveled state highway, and as the roadside was piled high with snow the members were forced to walk much of the time on the road itself.

Periodic trips, for the purpose of providing food and other supplies, were made by various members who were not participants. The hikers were accompanied by a large dog who, it was generally agreed—through a number of visits to neighboring farms and several jaunts after rabbits and squirrels—more than made his 50 miles.

The walkers wore Sig Ep winter jackets and plastic rain parkas in addition to regular winter clothing. A large bull paddle, emblazoned with the Fraternity letters and crest, was carried part of the way, and kerosene lanterns were used after dark to warn oncoming traffic.

The four men who hiked the complete distance were John Logan of Greenville, Jack Wuycheck of Leechburg, John Fox of Knox, and Bob Beckstrand of Buffalo, N.Y. Several other members came close to going all the way, only to be forced to retired due to sore feet, cold weather, and general exhaustion; these included Jim Bock, George Owens, Bill Angerer, Ilmars Liepins, Jim Nordine, Art Patterson, Ron Beede, and Bill Coffman. Others who participated were Nabeel Helou, Roy Lloyd, John Reed, Dale Wenzelburger, Jack Mantsch, Bob Gahagen, and Bob Wilson.

Unfavorable results were aching muscles, blisters, and relatively complete exhaustion. After all was said and done, the chapter members felt gratified at the display of working together in an unquestionably beneficial exercise in brotherhood.

Coed Calendar

At Florida State the Sig Ep Annual Calendar Girl Contest, in its third year, recently drew an audience of more than 1,000 students. In swimsuit and cocktail dress events, 12 beauties were chosen from entrants of 19 sororities to appear on the 1963-64 calendar, which will be sold in the fall.

The contest was emceed by Don Whiddon and hostess Carolyn Bridges, Kappa Alpha Theta, Sig Ep favorite calendar girl of 1962-63. During the intermissions the audience was entertained by the Minutemen, a local folk-singing group.

Judges picked from the faculty and local merchants selected the 12 finalists on the basis of beauty, poise, and photogenic qualities. To defray costs of printing, advertisements were sold to local merchants.

Steve Shephard, Calendar Committee chairman, had the help of Steve Robertson, publicity chairman, and Eddie Reid, stage manager.

Experiment in Cooking

"Why don't we have the guys in the house do the cooking? I know of other fraternities that have done it." These mutterings from the members of Wisconsin Alpha soon evolved into a new experiment in cooking. The cook's work had been far from satisfactory; in fact it was so bad that these mutterings soon materialized into our present means of cooking. At first the chapter took the suggestion as a joke, but after several discussions the idea became more and more attractive to the people who were willing to do the cooking. The plan seemed plausible.

The immediate result was a constitution, drawn up by Warren Ellsworth, '62. It ranks with some of the great organized experiments of the twentieth century. It reads:

We the five (5) undersigned, in order to form a more satisfying commissary operation, establish content, insure varied menus, provide for a balanced diet, promote the general well-being, and secure the Blessings of a full stomach to ourselves and our Brothers, do suggest and volunteer this program for the running of the Wisconsin Alpha, of Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity, commissary.

Thiel Sig Eps on return trip of 50-mile hike from Greenville to Meadville and back.

General Characteristics and Responsibilities

All responsibilities, remunerations, and benefits shared by persons previously known as "cook" and "steward(s)" be hereby invested in a pentamorous body (or any other convenient body). This body will be responsible for the ordering, processing, and distributing of the food of the commissary mentioned above (henceforth to be referred to as "Kitchen").

Specific Structural Characteristics

Each member of the group of five (5) shall be required to cook and maintain the kitchen an average of two (2) hours a day during a seven-day week. The remuneration for this work will be fourteen (14) dollars. One of the group of five (5) will be designated as "head" and as such will assume the added responsibilities of ordering the products to be worked on by the cooks in securing the above mentioned blessings, determining the work shifts of the brotherhood, and participating in the aforementioned preparation of improved sustenance in accordance with the suggested work distribution presented below. In recognition of the increased responsibilities the "head" will receive an advanced rate of remuneration of sixteen (16) dollars.

Although the members of the pentamorous body respect and are confident of the other's ability to fulfill his obligation, there shall be provided a reminder, equal in magnitude to the reminder for a missed activation, to be issued unto any person not able to fulfill his obligation as agreed in recognition of the great trust and delegated responsibility afforded the body by the Brotherhood.

Ratification and Establishment

The ratification of the suggestions by a vote of the active meeting (amended from eating) members of Sigma Phi Epsilon, Wisconsin Alpha Chapter; the agreement of the present "steward(s)"; and the replacement of the present cook, shall be sufficient for the establishment of this program for the Brothers so ratifying the same.

Submitted in agreement by the Unanimous consent of the pentamorous body assembled the Tenth Day of March in the Year of our Lord One thousand nine hundred and Sixty-two and of the Nationally Affiliated Chapter at Lawrence College of Wisconsin the Fifth. In witness whereof we have hereunto subscribed our names.

Dudley E. Owens

Warren T. Ellsworth

The active chapter, thinking that the pentamorous body was still a joke, gave its consent for a trial period. The members of the newly formed body went into immediate session to decide the details of the project. After great consultation a final scheme emerged. The members prepared four week-long menus which they felt could be repeated and rotated without becoming too routine. Guys interested in cooking were asked to turn in their class schedule and a short summary of their cooking knowledge. The five charter members of the pentamorous body were: Dudley Owens, '63, William Herzog, '63, John Horn, '63, Kenneth Holehouse, '62, and Buck Ellsworth, '62.

At the next active meeting, armed with menus and worklists the pentamorous body managed to convince the chapter that they were sincere in their proposal. The chapter voted to let the pentamorous body show their skill in the chemistry of cooking.

After Easter vacation the pentamorous body began the cooking for the house. Although there were some drawbacks (a few puddings didn't quite set) the chapter members were indifferent enough about tapioca to give the program permission to continue through the next year. At this point it appears that as long as there are enough guys who are willing to do the cooking the pentamorous body will continue to rule the kitchen.

Briefly the program operates in the following manner. The body prepared the four basic menus, which can be changed upon the suggestions of the active chapter members. Each meal contains a well-balanced diet of a salad, a main dish, a vegetable, a dessert, and coffee, tea, or milk. With the daily menu as a basis, the members of the body made up a work sheet for each day listing what is to be done during each hour of duty. Below is an example of a work sheet and the menu for the day.

Four of the members of the pentamorous body work about nine hours a week. The fifth member, who, as Mr. Ellsworth stated in constitution "Shall be designated as head" has extra work of an executive nature, but he receives a slightly larger amount of pay for his presumably superior administrative ability. The members of the body are paid from the salaries which formerly went to the cook and the steward. The head receives $200 per term, and the other four receive $175 per term.

As in any organized (?) body, the pentamorous body has its "bibles." The Red Book contains a copy of each of the week-long menus and the work sheets for each day. The work sheets and the menus have been encased in clear plastic to protect them from any flying food. The Blue Book is the head's "bible," and it contains a complete copy of the Red Book, ordering lists for each week, general commissary items, and price lists from the wholesalers.

After a highly successful trial period, the pentamorous body has firmly established itself as a highly practical solution to the problems of finding a cook. Perhaps its greatest asset, however, is that the members seem to enjoy their work. This year's crew contains two hold-overs: Bill Herzog ('63), John Horn ('63), and three new members: Mike Hartong ('64), Dave Hass ('64), and Jeff Halverson ('64), who replaced the 2 Charter Members lost through graduation and the other Charter member to his new wife. After all, not every college graduate knows how to make biscuits or put together an Irish Stew.

Valdosta Retreat

Valdosta State Sig Eps held a retreat in January for the men eligible for initiation. The idea of this retreat was to instruct them in ideals, organization, and general structure of the national and local fraternity. Each officer and chairman gave a detailed report on his duties and the purpose of his particular job. This retreat was held at a secluded lake-house, which provided the necessary atmosphere for the matters at hand.

Money-saver

For many years at Penn State, we have paid full rate to mail our newsletters and other material to the alumni. Having held the position of recorder, I have noticed that most other chapters pay the full mailing rate for their newsletters which are sent to our chapter. Recently, I inquired at the post office to see if we could not mail at a cheaper rate. Through this inquiry, we received permission as a nonprofit organization to mail at a bulk rate of 1½ cents per pound—a saving to us of approximately $20 every time we mail material to our alumni. Perhaps chapters could benefit by obtaining this nonprofit rate if they do not already take advantage of it.

Grand President Black (third from left) with Iowa Alpha founders Albert Nuetzman, Samuel Hagie, and Columbus Hayes under the charter at 50th anniversary observance in February.

BIRTHDAYS

Three of the six living founders of the Iowa Wesleyan chapter were guests of honor at the 50th anniversary observance held in Mount Pleasant on February 8-9. Founders in attendance were Columbus Hayes, Samuel L. Hagie, and Albert Nuetzman. Unable to attend were Clarendon Havinghurst of New York, Enos Lauterbach of Denver, and Harlan Stone of California.

Grand President Bedford W. Black was present to give the chief address and participate in the initiation of Charles Cleary, pledge of the semester and 615th initiate.

Also on hand were District Governor Edward E. Axthelm, Iowa State; Hugh Hunt, Iowa Wesleyan, '16; Doug Billings, president of the Parsons chapter; and many alumni who were not deterred by a severe snow storm.

The Mothers and Wives Club entertained at a buffet supper with Housemother Goody as hostess.

Plans for a new house for the chapter were announced at a meeting of the alumni board.

More than 150 couples attended a banquet at the Detroit Yacht Club on December 1 to observe the 50th anniversary of the founding of the University of Michigan chapter.

Past Grand President C. Maynard Turner, of Cincinnati, secretary of the National Board of Directors, gave the chief banquet address.

An evening of dancing followed the chicken dinner.

Members of the Knoxville Alumni Association will celebrate the Golden Anniversary of the founding of the chapter at Tennessee; the date: Saturday, April 27. The charter members will be guests of honor and an interesting program is being arranged. The banquet will be a stag affair highlighting old memories.

North Carolina Sig Eps held their 42nd Anniversary Founders' Day at the new chapter house March 30, with more than 40 alumni present.

The chapter presented awards for Outstanding Service to James S. Massenburg, James D. Bailey, Hearne Swink, J. Carlton Pittman, Harold Weaver, and Charles Henderson, Jr. Alumni Board President Charles Daniel noted the "outstanding devotion and untiring dedication of these men to Sigma Phi Epsilon." A fund-raising program to help finance the construction of the new house was announced.

The meeting was followed by an informal reception, when the alumni toured the house and were entertained by exhibits of the chapter's history in picture form. Wives of the alumni were treated to a shopping tour of Chapel Hill, followed by a tea. The day was concluded with a turkey dinner for all the alumni, their wives and children.

—RICHARD WINDHAM

Muhlenberg Sig Eps observed their 25th year as a chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon on April 10. Alumni, administrators, and faculty members joined the undergraduate brothers in the observance at a formal dinner.

The alumni of the Temple chapter, which was installed on May 7, 1938, will return to the chapter house on May 10 to observe the 25th anniversary of the group's life on the campus.

The 15th annual Founders' Day of the chapter at Illinois Tech was held April 20.

Bradley Sig Eps celebrated their 14th birthday at a banquet attended by all undergraduates and numerous alumni. Rev. Ben Haddik spoke on past local history and experiences he has encountered as a clergyman.

Officers of the alumni board are Chuck Feer,

President; Russ Waechter, Treasurer; and Bob Park, Max Wessler, Tony Hladik, and Ray Calaway.

Greeley Sig Eps held an alumni banquet March 30 to commemorate the 10th anniversary of Colorado Epsilon. At the event at the Greeley Moose Lodge, more than 100 people from the Midwest and Rocky Mountain region enjoyed a steak dinner which was followed by a report on recent operations and a history of the chapter. The formation of an alumni chapter was discussed. A social hour and entertainment followed.

GLIMPSES OF THE ENDURING BOND

Members of the Connecticut Alumni Chapter elected the following officers at the February meeting: president, Howard D. Bidwell, Bucknell, '53; vice-pres., Francis V. Donovan, Massachusetts, '54; treasurer, Albert D. Long, Massachusetts, '21; secretary, William A. Carroll, Massachusetts, '54.

John Green gave an interesting talk on bobsledding at Lake Placid, N.Y. (the only bob-sled run in this hemisphere) and on his trip to Cortina, Italy, in 1952 with the U.S. Olympic Team.

—WILLIAM A. CARROLL

The Puget Sound Alumni Chapter is being organized on a permanent basis with regular meetings and social functions. There are many alumni in the Puget Sound area from all over the country and it is time that such an organization be formed.

The first need is a constitution which states the purposes and plans of the organization. A necessary provision is for a progressive board of directors of gradually changing members to give permanence and stability and see that the purposes and plans are carried out.

A strong, well-organized local alumni chapter is very important to support the college or university chapter in any particular community. That support should be both material and spiritual. Several times in the past, alumni have been called upon for financial help, in "building programs" and "house furnishing projects." Many alumni feel that the only times they are contacted are for donations, and that has created an attitude of aloofness and resentment. The success and effectiveness of any organization depends upon the development and maintenance of an esprit de corps—the spirit of the body or group—that spirit of brotherhood and friendship that holds members together for a common purpose.

Sigma Phi Epsilon is a great fraternity. It was born of a vision of its founder, Carter Ashton Jenkins. It was the result of a dream. Its spiritual foundation was the first and second commandments: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and mind and soul; and thy neighbor as thyself"—"the only foundation on which the world can have peace. This is the principle on which our Fraternity was founded."

The officers of the Puget Sound Alumni Chapter can do little without the individual help of members who can make it a real asset of our brotherhood.

—DR. CLAUDE C. HECKMAN

N.C. State alumni met in Raleigh on Saturday, March 2, to elect new trustees for their housing corporation and to discuss various business matters concerned with moving the chapter into their new house next fall.

The seven new trustees elected were: Dave Parrot, president; Bill Cross, vice-president; Chris McDonald, secretary; Bob Prongay, treasurer; John Thompson, W. H. White, and C. W. Mayo.

The men took time out from the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball tournament which was also held in Raleigh that weekend to meet to discuss the procedure of selling the chapter's present house, the purchase of furniture for the new house and a fund-raising program to replenish the chapter's building reserve.

The N.C. State chapter is building a $150,000 home on the school's Fraternity Row and expects to move in late this year.

Grand President Bedford W. Black and Field Representative Ted Straub were present.

Members of the Eastern Oklahoma Alumni Association elected James P. Dixon, Oklahoma, '57, president for the coming year. Dixon, who is in the investment department of the First National Bank & Trust Company of Tulsa, will be assisted by four vice-presidents who are in charge of alumni liaison for their respective chapters.

At Ferris' first anniversary banquet in February, president Iver Johnson (left) and former controller Ed Martin show charter to Thomas Ryan, the chapter's 106th man.

Gary Miller, Oklahoma Alpha; Chas. B. Gannaway, III, Oklahoma Beta; Dean Felts, Oklahoma Gamma, George W. Jones, Kansas Epsilon, will direct the alumni from chapters-at-large. Jon Overmyer, Oklahoma Alpha, was elected treasurer and Parke Huntington, Colorado Delta, '26, will serve as secretary.

James P. Dixon, president
Eastern Oklahoma Alumni

John Denbo, Oklahoma, '50 led the group as president during 1962 and was largely responsible for a well-organized fund-raising project which enabled the group to enjoy its most successful year since its organization. The annual Sig Ep New Year's Eve Dance was once again held in Tulsa's Ramada Inn. Alumni and undergraduates from all over the state were present to help climax 1962.

There are 300 Sig Eps in the Tulsa-Northeast Oklahoma area. The Association meets the second Tuesday of each month in the Borden's Cafeteria located in Hale Plaza in Tulsa. The meeting begins with a free cocktail hour at 5:30 followed by dinner at 6:30 and at 7:00 there is a short business meeting.

Members of the Tallahassee Alumni Association gave an alumni-active fish fry on December 8. It was held at the home of Shorty Whiddon. The meal, prepared by the Jack Whiddon and Shorty Whiddon families, consisted of mullet, coleslaw, grits with melted cheese, and hush puppies.

Members of the Valparaiso Alumni Association recently elected new officers as follows: Bob Marengo, president; Don Luster, vice-president; Ron Klezek, secretary; Rich Wille, treasurer; and Harry Lovell, SPEak editor.

It was reported at the meeting that the annual Chicago Christmas party of the Association was well attended. It was also reported that the Gehrken Memorial Room in the Indiana Zeta chapter house will soon be completed.

The Alumni Heartbeat for March features a profile of former Grand President Robert W. Kelly, N.Y.U., '29, president of the National Interfraternity Conference.

This newsy issue also includes a boost for the Chapter Investment Fund; a "Howdy" for alumni initiated before August 1, 1924, who will now receive the JOURNAL due to recent National Board action; an editorial by Editor Lyle E. Holmgren, "Are University-Fraternity Aims Akin?" a well-expressed invitation to the Conclave, and still other items.

In addition to the regular alumni contacts of putting out a newsletter four times a year and a newspaper twice a year and sending birthday cards by looking through the Recorder's books and the Secretary's card file, North Carolina has come up with a new gimmick. By finding out an alumnus' wedding anniversary from an information blank he returns, the chapter is able to warn him of it a week ahead of time and save him much marital anguish.

Sig Ep ATHLETES

At Alabama, David Bond and Don Peck were consistent double winners on the swimming team. In the SEC swimming meet in Atlanta, Bond became Alabama's first SEC swimming champion as he recorded the biggest upset of the meet by winning the breaststroke and setting a new pool record in doing so. Peck placed third in the 1650-yard freestyle and was on the 440-yard freestyle relay team which placed second. Bond succeeds Peck as the team captain for this past year. These two brothers paced the team to a 10-2 record and second in the SEC meet.

At Arizona Tom Kerr, captain-elect of the track team, holds the school polevault record.

Ball State's John Kunzie, 6'2" senior and member of the starting five, against Evansville hit 13 for 19 from the field and 8 for 9 from the free-throw line for a total of 34 points. Evansville was ranked number one in the NCAA (Small College division) at the time. He scored 27 against St. Joseph, 16 against Valparaiso, and 15 against Evansville in the second meeting. His average: 14 points per game in conference play.

Sig Eps who lettered in other sports include, in varsity football, Tom Meilstrup and Mervin Rettenmund; Dick Garman, gymnastics; Tom Beerman, volleyball; Bob Barkhaus and Gordon Kaylor, on the swim team; Tom Graham, tennis; and Mike Devault, who earned his third letter in track. Mike is currently the recordholder for shot-put. On the baseball team were Tom Lindenburg, Chuck Schuler, and Merv Rettenmund.

In basketball, Richard Thompson was a junior varsity forward.

Tom Beese, junior varsity swimmer, participated in the 200-yard butterfly and 400-yard individual medley.

At Rutgers, the 150-pound football team, led by All-East center Bob Carline, finished a 4-2 season. Carline, elected to the All-East squad by the vote of opposing coaches, provided the offensive punch which gave the Light Knights victories over Penn, Princeton, Navy, and Columbia.

Rutgers track team gets a boost from high-flying Mike Duch who broke the pole-vault record he set in 1962. He cleared 13 feet, 7 inches in a dual meet with Princeton. He also hits the 6 foot mark in the high jump.

Three Southeast Missouri State Sig Eps and two independents led the Cape State Indians' basketball team to a 21-2 season record. Winning their straight conference championship, the Indians held the number two spot in the small college UPI poll. The three Sig Eps were Bill Giesing, Paul Ranson, and Marvin Teel. Giesing was a first team choice for all-conference team and received an invitation to play on this year's Pan-American team.

At Tampa, Tony Yelovich was named as a Little All-American and Tampa's most valuable player for the 1962 season. President of the Junior Class, he is currently a candidate for student body president. He is chapter president.

Yelovich and another Sig Ep—Vaden Bessent—are co-captains for 1963 football. Both were honored at a recent awards banquet as was Max Davis, named the outstanding lineman. He recently signed a professional football contract. Ron Perez received the title Most Popular Back.

At Terre Haute, Dave Sexton has bettered his time in every pool appearance and was undefeated in conference meets. In the ICC meet, in the 200-yard butterfly, Sexton outdistanced competitors by slicing through the water in two minutes and twenty-seven seconds, a new school record for Indiana State and a conference record. Recently Dave finished 6th in the NAIA national meet.

In basketball, John Robbins was named to the all-conference squad for the second straight year. Robbins, Don Pope, and Marc Denny led the Sycamores through the first round of the NAIA basketball tournament in Kansas City.

At Westminster, Warren Sallade, captain of the Titan basketball team, was named to the All-District 30 team and given honorable mention on both the UPI and AP little All-Americans. In his four-year career, Sallade scored 1,253 points to place him fifth among alltime Titan pointmakers. Sallade was top scorer on the team with 367 points and an average of 16.7 points a game.

Two other Sig Eps on the Titan team were Lou Skurcenski and Bob Oravetz. Skurcenski, center, was also named to the NAIA's All-District 30 team. He was second in rebounds and had the highest field goal percentage—.572. Bob Oravetz, forward, led the team in rebounding and in total free throws.

At Worcester Tech, John Jacobson, Don Carlson, and Bob Murphy were triumphant varsity matmen. Dave Helming was a consistent scorer in basketball; so were Bill Zetterlund, Darrel Kost, George Steens, and Ron Hayden. Carl Hanson and Del Kimball saw action on the hockey team as did Dick Dann and Jeff Heywood on the swimming team. Jeff Heywood is rated as one of Tech's best divers in many years.

NEW CHAPTERS IN THE MAKING

The Georgia colony became Georgia Delta chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon on March 30 when a charter was presented.

Prior to the installation, 40 members including a new pledge class of 15, constituted the manpower.

Recently pledged: Cotton Frady, Chris Good, Ken Smith, Tony Barnes, Jr., Ray Jefferson, Ron Keen, Stan Ayer, Frank Cooper, Dan Whatts, Paul Proskine, Allen Kattmann, John Scitt, Jr., David Klassen, Ron Harrison.

Donald Alan Davis, the colony's first alumnus, was married on March 9 to Pamela Joan Edwards at Memorial Baptist Church, Savannah. He has joined the staff of United Press International at Atlanta.

As President and leader of the Georgia Colony, John R. Stevens, Jr. is a member of Biftab Honorary, Scabbard and Blade, and IFC representative. His straight A average helped the colony to sixth place scholastically the last quarter. Other campus activities include: past president and lieutenant governor of Circle K. Argonaut, circulation editor of the Pink and Gray, Hamilton McWhorter Award, Sociology-Anthropology Club, and Philaretos. He was also awarded a Woodrow Wilson fellowship and elected to Phi Kappa Phi.

Alan Sarrett Hicks was selected co-captain of the 1963 Georgia varsity wrestling team. Sig Eps wrestle in almost every class. Hicks came in second place in the South Eastern Conference.

June Orr, Alpha Omicron Pi, was crowned Queen of Hearts at the Golden Hearts Ball.

The Davis colony is scheduled to be installed as California Eta of Sigma Phi Epsilon on May 11, 1963. Shortly afterwards, the new chapter anticipates the purchase of a $40,000 fraternity house by the Alumni Householding Corporation.

Davis colonists again demonstrated their scholastic aptitude last fall by accumulating a 2.75 grade-point average, placing them second highest of living groups on campus.

Initiation ceremonies to colony active status were performed in March for the first 17 pledges of the colony. The ceremonies were carried out by a number of brothers from San Jose State. The second pledge class of eight members are included in a total colony manpower of 25.

Initiated were: George Cole, Dahl Harris, Drew Record, Dene McGriff, Page Painter, Frank Andres, Leroy Bertolero, Greg Boeger, Mark Hamby, Rufus Kline, Jack Malone, Rich Naumann, Bob Pierce, Randy Randall, Jim Snyder, Tony Tenbroek, and Hal Wagnon.

The colony's second pledge class consists of eight men as follows: Jerry Adams, Dan Halcomb, Doug Hamilton, Steve Larson, John Leonard, Robin Lovering, John Parsons, and Don Singleton.

Davis colonists at the beginning of each month have been sending one red rose to each of the women's living groups, to the Dean of Women, and to the wives of the Chancellor, Dean of Students, and Dean of Men. A Sig Ep vase is also provided. The intent of this tradition is to strengthen relations between the women students, the university staff, and Sigma Phi Epsilon Colony.

A second tradition is the Jack Giesy Rush Award which is given once a semester to the member contributing most toward informal rush. A day between semesters is named in honor of the recipient and is highlighted by a stag party during which the award is presented. The award was named in honor of Davis Colony's adviser.

RED DOOR NOTES

Arkansas State Sig Eps redecorated their fraternity room in Delta Hall, the Greeks' dormitory. A large coat of arms was hung and new draperies installed by the brothers themselves.

Bradley Sig Eps have plans for a three-story colonial style red brick house to be constructed by fall.

Drury Sig Eps recently remodeled and re-finished their basement recreation room. The highlight of the new decor is a five-foot painted plywood cutout of "Sig Ep Sam."

Houston Sig Eps moved into a larger and more comfortable house last September. John Greene, past chapter vice-president, was largely responsible for obtaining the house.

Michigan State Sig Eps have paneled the living room, entranceway, and stair opening of their 40-year-old house.

At Ohio Wesleyan, dedication ceremonies for the new chapter house are scheduled to be held May 11.

At Oregon, a new basketball court has been installed. New tile, furniture, and a coke bar have been installed in the basement.

Parsons Sig Eps will have the first choice among eight new housing units for fraternities and sororities which the administration will have ready for occupancy in the fall.

The housing will provide individual study and sleeping rooms, with built-in study and filing cabinets and closet space. Chapters will have their own dining facilities and recreation rooms.

New home of University of Houston Sig Eps.

At Michigan State, Roger Clough, Larry Storie, and Richard Hubert, try their hand at paneling 40-year-old living room.

At Rensselaer, proposed improvements include a new heater, tile floor, wall paneling, and ceiling for the party and recreation room.

Western Michigan Sig Eps will share in their alma mater's new $2,000,000 Fraternity Row—a cluster of 15 fraternity and sorority homes expected to range in cost from $100,000 to $200,000. The site of the "Fraternity Village" is about one mile west of the University Student Center. Work will begin in several months.

Six fraternities and nine sororities have paid $1,000 each to become equal shareholders in a nonprofit organization, "Western Michigan Fraternity Title-Holding Corp." Subject to normal plat restrictions, each Greek organization will determine its own style of architecture, landscaping, and costs. Each lot will be a little more than an acre in size.

Shareholders include Sigma Phi Epsilon, Delta Upsilon, Sigma Alpha Upsilon, Phi Kappa Tau, Delta Sigma Phi, Delta Chi, Alpha Chi Omega, Delta Zeta, Alpha Phi, Chi Omega, Sigma Kappa, Sigma Sigma Sigma, Alpha Sigma Alpha, Alpha Omicron Pi, and Phi Mu.

At Wichita, move-in date into the new $55,000 addition was March 23. The new area contains sleeping quarters for 26 men with five study alcoves and wardrobes each of which accommodate five men. Also included is a president's room, housemother's quarters, and a living room. The unit is split level with the housemother's quarters and living room being on the ground floor; and, the president's room and sleeping quarters for the other men being on Illinois Sig Eps copped the Scholarship Improvement Trophy with a house average of 3.45 (5.0 equals A). This average was significantly above the all-men's average for the University, and this was the first time the chapter rose above it in almost 10 years. Nearly half the actives received 4.0 averages or better, and the combined active average of 3.70 ranked seventh among 57 fraternities.

Kansas Sig Eps, competing with 27 fraternities on the hill, were one of the lucky four groups to produce a prize-winning skit for the 1963 Rock Chalk Revue, annual campus event which is played to 8,000 people in two performances. Three months of hard work were devoted to costuming, choreography, musical score.

At Kansas State, chapter secretary Ed Brown has been chosen "Most Inspirational" member on student council. He is a member in Alpha Kappa Psi, Scabbard and Blade, and a student representative on the Faculty Council on Student Affairs. Rich Hays, past IFC president, has been elected Blue Key secretary and Senior Class vice-president.

Dave Schmitt is the publicity chairman in Alpha Kappa Psi, while Don Johnson and Stanley Fowler are recent initiates. Larry Latta is in Pi Tau Sigma, and Ted Baehr in Eta Kappa Nu.

At Kentucky, Bill Cooper, president of the IFC and runner-up for the award of Most Outstanding Greek, was co-chairman of the Little Kentucky Derby steering committee, in charge of the biggest event of the year.

Chapter president Mark Amos is an ROTC major. The entire past pledge class has joined the YMCA. Kentucky Sig Eps hold a larger majority than any other fraternity in Men's Chorus.

Lamar State Sig Eps lead the fraternity intramural race by virtue of firsts in basketball, tennis, bowling, and bridge; and seconds in swimming, volleyball, and golf. Ronnie Wright is athletic chairman.

The chapter finished second in scholarship with a 1.43 (3.0 equals A) over-all average. Robert McLendon and Bill Matthews finished the fall semester with a 3 point grade average. The chapter took the trophy for improved grades.

Brady Parker was elected IFC vice-president.

Lehigh Sig Eps stand second out of 30 fraternities in scholastic competition and recently tied for the all-University Fite Nite wrestling trophy by placing two brothers as University wrestling champions.

James Tait and Bernard Musch are members of Pi Tau Sigma; Miles Capron of Alpha Kappa Psi, and Gordon Everstine of Pi Mu Epsilon. Paul Hoefler, former chapter president, represents Sig Ep on the IFC Rushing Committee; and Bertram Gross, president of Delta Omicron Theta, placed second in the Williams extempore speech contest. Thomas Lankford, chapter controller, and Miles Capron are members of the Student Investment Council, and Joseph Gellings is active on the university board of publications.

Maine Sig Eps will receive the Fogler Cup, an award given by the University to recognize the fraternity achieving the highest point average. Fall semester, 1962, the chapter earned an average grade of 2.49 out of a possible 4.00. The all-men's average was 2.287.

Marshall Sig Eps in scholarship placed first among nine campus fraternities for the first semester 1962-63 with an average of 2.440. Sig Ep was the only fraternity over the all-men's average. Top scholar was Jack Selby with a 3.750. Pledge class average was 2.397; member average, 2.455. The Dubach Award was won by Glenn Allan Wilson. On the Dean's List (3.0) were: John Anderson, Larry Ascough, Thomas Beatty, James Bobbitt, William Holbrook, David McCabe, Allan Ross, Jack Selby, Mike Steiner, Tommy Turner, Thomas Tweel, and Ronald Wamsley.

At M.I.T., the swimming team placed first in the intramural swim meet. Tom Sizlo was team captain.

Jim Bochnowski, high man in over-all average for all bowling competition and bowler of the high series for the season, led the bowling team to second place.

Jerry Luebbers was elected Undergraduate Association president, head of the M.I.T. student body, for the coming year. He has served the chapter as scholarship chairman, IFC representative, and controller. He was a member of the Frosh Heavyweight Crew, was named Outstanding Freshman of the Year, and has served on the Institute Finance Board. He has maintained a 4.7 cumulative on a 5 point system.

At Memphis State, former chapter president Buddy Kleiser has served as president of the IFC and vice-president of Delta Kappa. Max Wagerman is president of Pi Sigma Epsilon. Jimmie Fouts is Accounting Club president. Bob Rice is Psychology Club president. "Outstanding Cadet" Charles Bastnagel is secretary in the Sabre Air Command.

Warren Mitchell, Mike Long, and Robert Holder were chosen varsity cheerleaders. Holder is captain.

At Miami (Fla.) chapter president Charles D. Bobbitt, II received the first annual N.B.T. Roney Award of a $500 scholarship given to marketing students showing qualities of scholarship and campus leadership.

Scholastically for last semester the chapter placed fourth among all 21 fraternities and was one of five above the all-men's average.

At Mississippi, John William Richardson, junior in the school of mechanical engineering, an NROTC Scholar, last year received the Daughters of American Revolution Award as the Outstanding Naval Science Student for the Sophomore Class. This year he received the

Professor of Naval Science Letter of Commendation for the best scholastic average in the first five semesters of naval science.

Member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Bill also received the Taylor Medal in Engineering. He is a member of Phi Eta Sigma and Phi Kappa Phi; also of the Canterbury Club and the Young Republican Federation. He has served the chapter as junior marshal, senior marshal, house manager, vice-president, and is now president. Chapter awards include the Outstanding Pledge Award and the Scott Key.

Ken Taylor Mayhall, senior in the school of liberal arts majoring in chemistry, is a senior IFC member and supervisor of the junior IFC. He is a member of the IFC nominating committee and dance committee.

At Missouri, past chapter president Emil Meny is editor of the Shamrock, engineering publication. He has served on the St. Pats Board and has been selected Knight of St. Pat magna cum laude. He has been on the executive board of the Engineers Club for three years and is a member of Alpha Chi Sigma, Pi Omicron Sigma, and AICHE.

Missouri Mines Sig Eps won the intramural wrestling trophy with five men entered in the finals. Ed Kozney was best in the 118-pound class; Bob Sommerkamp in the 165-pound class; while John Gladysiewicz, 135-pound class, Graham Sutherland, 155-pound class, and Ken Delmain, 175-pound class, were runners-up. An also-ran was Con Stergas, heavyweight.

In intramural boxing, Craig Dunn is two-time champion of the 118-pound class. George Kreiger placed second in 155-pound boxing.

In the St. Patrick's Day Parade, Sig Ep grabbed a second place cup for its float "Better Green Than Red."

Graduating senior Dick Miller received the Distinguished Military Student Award.

At Monmouth in the student body elections swept by Sig Eps, Al Marti triumphed as president and Steve Ellis won the race for treasurer.

John Alexander is attending the American University in Washington, D.C., on the Washington Semester Plan to further his studies in political science. Bruce Conrad will add emphasis to his chemistry endeavors by spending third term at Argonne National Laboratories.

Bill Simpson was elected IFC secretary. Alexander and Conrad were tapped for Blue Key membership, joining Bill Graue, Bill Winslade, and George Boehmer.

At Nebraska, Ivan Grupe has been athlete, scholar, BMOC, and chapter leader. As athlete he leads the varsity basketball team in free throw percentage and is second in both rebounding and scoring. He has been scouted by professional teams.

An exemplary scholar, he was chosen chapter president in his junior year but before then had served as rush chairman.

He was chosen Prince Kismet (the most popular male student), selected one of the six eligible bachelors, and was chosen a member of the Innocents Society Associate Program because of his grades and activities. He also sang in the Lutheran student church choir, was treasurer of Young Republicans, and was a nominee for the Outstanding Nebraskan award. He led the chapter to Spring Day honors and directed the volleyball and softball teams to championships.

Following his graduation in June, he plans to begin the study of optometry in Chicago.

Jim Hix was a finalist for "Outstanding Collegiate Man" and is IFC rush chairman.

Mike Lessman and Gary Fegley are finalists for "Most Eligible Bachelor."

Sig Eps lead the intramural program, with the "A" team, "B" team, and "C" team advancing to the finals of the basketball tourney, to defend the fraternity championship won last year. The intramural football team emerged All-Fraternity runnerup.

The chapter won third place in the Homecoming Display contest, with a movie, "The Nebraskaside Story."

At New Mexico, Charlie Steen was elected IFC vice-president and Mike Walker was elected IFC treasurer. Charley Atkinson was elected president of Phi Mu Alpha-Sinfonia, named to Who's Who, and initiated by Blue Key.

Nevada was first on campus (fraternities) for the third semester in a row, compiling a 2.43 GPA the fall semester. The all-fraternity average was a 2.25, the all-men's average 2.16. Douglass Buchanan and Joel Tew made the University honor roll which consists of the top 5 per cent of the students. Joel Tew's GPA is 3.81, arts and science; Douglass Buchanan's 3.68, arts and science.

At North Carolina, Tom Lawrence has been head of the Card Section at football games for the last three years. North Carolina has the largest Card Section in the Eastern U.S. and second largest in the nation. He is the originator of the Carolina Sweethearts, a group of official coed hostesses to incoming athletic teams. He has been president of the North Carolina United Christian Campus Fellowships for three years. He is on the Student Athletic Council, the Elections Board, and served as chapter secretary.

At North Texas State, Ray Williamson is president of the student body, president of Talons, and was named to Who's Who. He lettered in varsity football three years and varsity tennis two years.

Buck Mahaney, chapter president is president of IFC and treasurer of Talons.

Larry Sullivant is president of the Senior Class, a member of Talons, and has lettered in varsity football three years.

Jerry Hoodenpyle is a member of Talons, Chancery Club, Phi Sigma Alpha, and attorney general of the United Students of North Texas. Jerry has served the chapter as president, recorder, secretary, and rush chairman.

At Ohio Northern, Nu Theta Kappa, honorary engineering fraternity, allowed to initiate eight new members, included these three who are Sig Eps: Dick Routh, a mechanical engineer from Cleveland; Evan Richards, an electrical engineer from Shelby; and Steve Hindall, a civil engineer from Ada.

Joseph V. Ciminillo, chapter president, has been named IFC president.

Oklahoma State Sig Eps in intramural sports have copped firsts in basketball, volleyball, ping pong, and handball; and a second in tennis and a third in bowling. Will Stansberry and Tom Ward were named to the all-fraternity basketball team. Terry West coached.

Neal Seidle and Will Stansberry engineered the victories in ping-pong and handball and contributed a great deal toward winning in volleyball. Both are varsity tennis players. Sig Ep holds a substantial lead.

Omaha Sig Eps triumphed in interfraternity golf, four-mile relay, and wrestling competition. Second-place honors were taken in indoor track and volleyball. For the second straight year Omaha Sig Eps won the Theta Chi Olympics, an annual all-Greek function in which fraternities and sororities compete in athletic events. Sig Eps won all events.

At Oregon, Phil Sherburn, candidate for student government president, is the only recognized student lobbyist at the state capital in Salem. As chairman of the student senate committee on higher education he has lobbied and published material on proposed tuition increases for the state of Oregon. He has appeared as witness before committees of the legislature.

President of the Junior Class, he was the recipient of the Outstanding Senator award as a freshman. He is president of the Oregon Federation of Student Leaders and chairman of the statewide Higher Education Committee. He was chairman of Junior Weekend and is a member of Druids.

At Oregon State, Chuck Siemers won the IM wrestling trophy.

John H. Wilkinson, former chapter president, is a member of Blue Key, Sigma Tau, Scabbard and Blade, Tau Beta Pi, Phi Eta Sigma, and Phi Kappa Phi. As the highest ranking cadet in Army ROTC, he has received the Distinguished Military student award.

Eric Lindauer, ex-submariner who serves as student body vice-president, is one of five Blue Key members and has been instrumental in bringing People To People to OSU. He is a varsity swimmer and a member of Alpha Delta Sigma.

John McGuire and Pete Scott represent two major schools in Student Senate. Bob Jacobson in Rally King and Mortar Board King. Dave Holman and Dick Harpe were co-chairmen of Dad's Weekend while Lance Hurt will be chairman of the annual Rook-Sophomore Picnic.

Steve Ebert played the lead role in Critic's Choice. Bob Gawley is student drum major in the band.

At Penn, Terry Rahmeier, chapter vice-president, chief editor of the engineers' magazine, The Triangle, has been elected to Tau Beta Pi and Sigma Tau.

Conrad Eberstein was named chairman of the IFC alumni committee.

At Penn State, chapter president Leon Klingensmith, a junior studying metallurgy, has maintained his full scholarship from the West Penn Power Company by remaining on the Dean's List. He is a member of the American Society of Metals and Society of American Military Engineers. He sings on the Penn State Glee Club and the Varsity Quartet and has been chairman of the IFC Panhellenic Sing.

At Purdue, Jim Muehlbauer, a graduating senior in June, has been pledge class president, vice-president, and president of the house. He has made Dean's List, been junior IFC president, and is a member of many ROTC and engineering societies.

At Rensselaer, the pledges attained the highest scholastic ranking for the fall semester among the 29 campus fraternities. Their combined average of 2.869 on a 4.0 basis was 30.44 per cent higher than the all-student average.

Rutgers' Gene Beckman was recently awarded a National Science Foundation grant to conduct research in mechanical engineering. The research program is administered by the mechanical engineering department of the College of Engineering and will be conducted for a ten-week period during the summer. Gene chose to study heat transfer and flow phenomena of solid-gaseous mixtures.

When away from the lab, Gene serves as chapter steward and manager of the Scarlet's 150-pound football team.

At Sam Houston, T. Fred Lipscomb is IFC treasurer, chairman of the housing committee, member of the social committee, and has played in all intramural sports. He has posted a 2.5 average.

Harold H. Hyradil is business manager of the Alcade (yearbook), has served as secretary and president of the Industrial Arts club, and a lab instructor for the photoengraving department. A recipient of the Jesse Jones Scholarship award for the last two years, he posted an over-all 2.8.

At San Jose State, Chuck Osier, Pete McGrath, Rod Diridon, Jack Perkins, and Phil Baker were included in Who's Who. Sig Eps and Alpha Chi Omega pooled talents to take the sweepstakes trophy in the Theta Chi "All-Greek" show.

The chapter football team finished the season in the IFC intramural football league in fourth place with a 7-5 record.

The house basketball team is in third place with a 5-2 record.

Santa Barbara's fall pledges took top honors in pledge scholarship, while members finished third. A scholarship chart on which every member must keep a running account of his grades has been placed in the chapter room. This semester's motto is "scholarship through embarrassment." Mike Hebert was voted best pledge.

The volleyball team finished second in the fraternity league, losing one game. Bob Taylor traveled to Berkeley on the all-school team which placed third in state competition. The bowlers finished second, by one-half game.

Southeast Missouri State Sig Eps, last year's intramural basketball champs and defending state champs in the all-Sig Ep league, again took the intramural championship with a 17-2 record.

At Southwest Missouri State, Boonie Tindall, Gary Westfall, John Henage, and Dick Fiester each won first place in their respective wrestling weight divisions in the Greek contests. Tindall was the all-school champion in his division. Gary Stinert, Pat Sprage, Bonnie Tindall, and Dick Clark combined to win the intramural free-throw.

Stetson Sig Eps won the intramural volleyball championship for the second straight year with six wins and one loss. The team: Bob Moore, Bill Moore, John Millelsen, Steve Harper, Bob Hughes, and Harry Schindehette.

Stevens Point Sig Eps won the third annual Winter Carnival trophy. Don Kaiser and Sue Heikkinen reigned as king and queen. Dick Broetzman was credited with the neatest beard in the beard-growing division. Other points were received in ice-sculpturing and winter games, firsts being netted in log-sawing and the snowshoe race.

At Tampa, Ernest Stout is Student Congress president. John Hones, chapter vice-president, and out-going Sophomore Class president, has been elected student body vice-president. Sam Rampello is past president of IFC.

At Tennessee, in the annual all-sing, Sig Ep songsters directed by Ed Smith placed third among the 18 fraternities.

Tennessee Wesleyan Sig Eps in the recent Red Cross blood donation program in Athens, had 100 per cent participation from actives and pledges. They also participated in the fund-raising drive for the March of Dimes by collecting money in highway roadblocks.

Brothers voted as Who's Who are: Joe Burger, Riceville; Jerry Roberts, Niota; Ronnie Harris Harriman; and Dennis Gilliken, Staten Island, N.Y.

Brothers voted as Senior Superlatives are Roberts, Gilliken, Burger, Harris, Hamilton, and Edwards.

At Terre Haute, Ron Senzig will take with him a record which includes these honors as he closes his campus career: Alpha Phi Omega, Circle K, Homecoming Parade marshal, varsity basketball manager, business manager of Campus Revue Policy Board and of the Miss Indiana State Contest, member of the Junior Prom Committee, and Who's Who. Senzig served the chapter as president and was undergraduate representative to the alumni board.

At Vermont, William Lewis, past chapter president, is IFC president.

Niel Adams was one of three directors for the Sixty-Six Annual Kake Walk, oldest of the college winter carnivals.

The chapter won the all-campus championship in basketball. Under coach and player Gerald Torch the team achieved a 10-0 record. Other team members included John Bossi, Antony Casani, Robert Brown, James Jealous, Lee Pantas, Jay Harding, Stephen Bloom, Roger Ames, and Carmen Loffredo.

Washington (Mo.) Sig Eps ranked first in scholarship, with 1.85 (out of 3.00), attaining the highest grade-point for a fraternity at Washington U. in some time.

At Washington and Lee, chapter president Jere Cravens has maintained a perfect 3.0 average in his five semesters while holding offices in Phi Eta Sigma, the Glee Club, Alpha Epsilon Delta, and the house managers' association. He is Phi Beta Kappa.

The chapter stood fifth among 18 fraternities in the first semester's grade-point average, well above the all-men's mark. In intramurals, latest figures show the chapter holding down fifth among the 20 groups.

Of 13 freshmen, nine have participated in at least one sport. Freshmen Ric Mynttinen and John Anthony, football; Bill Clay, swimming; Rick Stevens, diving; Jerry Reeves and Bill Wilson, wrestling; Dusty Rhodes, football and lacrosse; and Terry Kittredge, rifle team. Freshman Mike Hayslip has established himself in varsity debate.

Freshman Rich Stevens was initiated into Phi Eta Sigma, with a first semester grade point ratio of 2.5 out of a possible 3.0.

Sophomores Neil McWilliams and Gene Green have been initiated into Alpha Epsilon Delta pre-medical.

Western Michigan Sig Eps pace the intramural contest with a first in swimming, a second in football, a fifth in basketball, and a second in bowling. They are 35 points in front with the spring sports remaining.

In scholarship the chapter placed second for the fall semester, with the active chapter leading all others with a 2.53.

Dennis Bessnecker was elected to the Men's Union Board. Thomas Wilson, chapter president, was selected to IFC judicial board. Lee Heger was elected Student Council representative of Henry Hall.

At Westminster, the football team went undefeated and in one game alone scored 102 points.

In basketball intramurals, both the "B" and "C" leagues won trophies, with the "B" league champions going undefeated.

At Wichita, "The Pledge with the most outstanding grades" for the first semester of the '62-'63 school year was John Morton, with an average of 3.647 (based on a 4 point system). A member of the freshman track team, he also won special University recognition as the athlete having the highest grade average.

Bob Putnam is IFC secretary.

Named among five 1963 University Honor Men was Lee Spann, chapter president.

Five Wisconsin Sig Eps have joined the Haresfoot Club, the famous all-male (even the "girls" are!) musical troupe which presents a two-week touring show each spring throughout the state. In the musical hit, Destry Rides Again, a farce that mimics TV and movie westerns, Sig Eps Fred Knoch, Tom Bollnow, Bill Boehm, Bob Sorrentino, and Tim Swan sing, dance, and act. They performed in Appleton, Beloit, Portage, Waukesha, Milwaukee, and Madison.

Jerry Wilcox, a senior in political science, was initiated by Phi Kappa Phi. Pledge Bob Thomas is on The Daily Cardinal. Tim Swan is in his seventh semester as a member of the university Men's Glee Club and Ren Kreuger has joined the University Chorus.

At Worcester Tech, Kenneth Olsen, Robert Murphy, William Zinno, George Vittas, Charles Goddard, and Donald Robertson were elected to Who's Who. David Helming was elected to the Skull. Peter Fenner was pledged to Tau Beta Pi. Paul Lilienthal and Steve Sacco were pledged to Pi Tau Sigma.

Sig Ep finished second in the IF swimming meet and have not been defeated in IF basketball. The basketball record stands 5-0. The coveted sports trophy is a real possibility.

At Wyoming, senior Ron Liden played the leading role in the university play, Beyond the Horizon. He is president of Theta Alpha Phi and has served his chapter as scholarship chairman, song leader, and social chairman.

At Youngstown, Earle Pratt, president of the Senior Class, has served as chapter president and president of Student Council. Thomas S. Herman, pre-med, chapter president, is president of the Youngstown University Student Association and a member of Omicron Lambda and IFC committeeman.

On Student Council are John Porea, president; Larry Ryan, treasurer; and Dennis Frataroli, discipline committee.

TIME OUT FOR HUMANITY

At Arizona State, more than 20 Sig Ep pledges painted, mended fences, and cleaned up at the Valley Christian Center.

The chapter recently entertained two young men from abroad. Jerry Classen of the Union of South Africa was a guest for a week, and Robert Hansford of London, England, was a guest during his visit to the campus.

Arkansas State Sig Eps who agree with JFK sought to improve their physical fitness by walking toward Memphis, Tenn., from the A-State campus in Jonesboro, 50 miles away. They carried signs asking motorists to give to the National Heart Fund. In four hours they walked 12 miles and along with other members manning roadblocks inside Jonesboro collected $500.

They also helped make Christmas happy for others by taking a day off from the hurry of pre-Christmas rush to collect approximately $125 by ringing bells for the Salvation Army.

Atlantic Christian Sig Eps proved themselves able fund-raisers for their alma mater recently when they gave the college's $75,000 Development Fund Program pledges totaling $1,000.

Baker Sig Eps, led by Mike Kreuser, collaborated with the Alpha Chi Omegas to stage a successful Heart Fund drive.

Bowling Green Sig Eps contributed more than $170 to local charities by winning the Ugly Man contest with their entry Bill Deeg, actually a real "face man." By dint of superior make-up Deeg garnered well over 17,000 votes, more than that tallied for all the other fraternities and dormitories combined.

BRANT ELDRIDGE, JR. of Beaumont was initiated as the 67,000th by the Lamar State chapter February 17. He is the 175th initiate of Texas Epsilon.

A sophomore with a major in mathematics and a minor in physics, Brother Eldridge is 5' 10", weighs 170 pounds, has reddish brown hair and hazel green eyes, and is 19 years old.

He was graduated from South Park High School in Beaumont in 1961 in the top six of his class of 350 students. He was a member of the National Honor Society, served as president of his class for two years and was class favorite one year. He was on the school's football, basketball, and tennis teams.

As a freshman at Lamar, he was a member of the Freshman Honor Society and participated in intramural football and basketball. He completed his freshman year with a 2.65 over-all average.

As a pledge this year he was elected best pledge out of a pledge class of 31. He also served as treasurer of the pledge class. He was a member of the fraternity's basketball and bowling team. He is now serving as assistant recorder.

He plans to receive his B.S. at Lamar and then pursue studies for a master's. After this he plans to find a place in industry.

tributed eggs to local children's hospitals and also to the sororities. An Easter bunny, and a Volkswagen with six-foot rabbit ears, whiskers, and a tail, were essential ingredients in the project.

Central Michigan Sig Eps, under Blood Chairman Stu Bradley, have contributed 100 pints of blood to the local hospital for the sixth straight year.

A third of the amount contributed in the county's Mother's March of Dimes was collected by Sig Eps. The contest was sponsored by the IFC in connection with the Ugly Man contest won by Sig Ep Bill Robertson.

Colorado State Sig Eps donated their time to distribute material to the general public about heart disease, to collect funds for the United Fund, and to staff polio inoculation centers.

Last February, 11 pledges helped paint the St. Paul's Episcopal Church in line with the Help Week program.

Ferris Institute Sig Eps came in for praise and thanks last fall from the Mecosta (County) Association for Retarded Children, which maintains a school, the MARC Center, at Big Rapids, Mich. When Brother Jim Gossett, who drives the school bus for the MARC Center, suggested that Michigan Zeta stage a car wash and turn the profit over to the school, ambitious Sig Eps made more than $100 on the project.

When Panhell coeds staged their annual pillow sale for funds for the MARC Center, the Sig Ep pledge class chauffeured the women students on their city-wide canvass with the pillows to net more than $400.

To help maintain the Center, through a plan devised by Jim Gossett, Sig Eps go out each month, scrub and wax the floors and put the school in apple-pie order. At Ferris there is a group of students, known as the Scrub Crew, who earn part of their college expense by keeping the college buildings spic and span. Thus the Sig Eps are well versed in scrubbing procedures.

Then in mid-January, while the pupils were attending a circus, the MARC Center burned down. The Sig Eps felt they had lost a friend. But the IFC, whose president is Ed Martin, and Panhellenic joined forces and conducted a door-to-door canvass of the city for money and school supplies, amassing more than $1,100 in cash and an estimated $200 in school supplies.

Iowa Sig Eps on February 17 gave a tea for all foreign students enrolled at the University. Three hundred invitations were sent, and over 60 foreign students, representing 23 nations, attended. Students showed their interest by asking such thought-provoking questions as, "How do you choose a pledge?" and, "What's the difference between fraternities?"

Robert Freitag planned the event with the help of Foreign Student Adviser W. Wallace Maner.

Iowa State Sig Eps at Christmas brought a small group of retarded children to the house for an afternoon of songs, entertainment, and gifts as well as a visit from Santa.

Kansas Sig Eps aided the Heart Fund drive by canvassing in the Lawrence area.

Kansas State Sig Eps, working with the County Heart Fund chairman, contacted every major University living group to complete a successful fund-raising drive. They also donated 100 per cent to the Kansas City Blood Bank.

Kentucky members and pledges helped the Lexington fire departments pack and send clothes and supplies to flooded disaster areas to the north.

Missouri Mines Sig Eps aided the Heart Fund Drive by collecting from all the local merchants on February 23, the day before Heart Sunday, the total of $156.

Monmouth Sig Eps canvassed the town of Monmouth for Heart Fund donations during February and collected over $700.

North Carolina Sig Ep pledges recently invaded the First Baptist Church of Chapel Hill and with brooms, mops, dust rags, rakes, and willingness to do some hard work cleaned up the place in less than three hours. On another occasion chapter members set up a road block for the Heart Fund and in three hours solicited $477.30 from passing motorists.

North Carolina State pledges made their "Help Week" helpful at the Wake County Juvenile Detention Home. They washed and scraped paint from the windows of the home.

North Texas State Sig Eps elected Mike Wells, "Ugliest Man on Campus" as part of Dutch Week festivities. The $375 in pennies which elected Mike go into a school-sponsored scholarship fund.

Ohio State Sig Eps shared their Christmas with 30 underprivileged children of Columbus as members of Delta Zeta helped them stage a party on December 5. All enjoyed games, songs, and refreshments, and the appearance of Santa (Bryan Boling) with his bag of toys.

Rich Hudacko served as chairman of the annual all-campus blood drive held in connection with Greek Week. The chapter ranked second among fraternities on campus in the number of pints donated—545 pints from 723 donors. Sig Ep alumnus Carl Braley, administrative director of the American Red Cross-Columbia Center, served as director.

The chapter also collected $450 for the Annual Franklin County Heart Fund Drive. The campus-wide balloon sales was headed by Gary Bowser.

Santa Barbara Sig Eps worked for the second year with Alpha Phis on Heart Sunday, collecting more than $200. As a Greek Week project, pledges and active volunteers joined with other fraternities and sororities in painting the city tennis courts.

Utah State Sig Eps sponsored a Heart Fund dance and distributed the heart canisters.

HEART-FELT HELP FROM MOTHERS AND WIVES

At Arizona State, a woman's auxiliary, Golden Hearts of Sigma Phi Epsilon, has been invaluable to the men since its beginning in 1961.

Originally, 13 girls were initiated into the auxiliary, and in one year the number has increased to 24, including both Greeks and independents.

The Golden Hearts are an asset to the fraternity during rush, Greek week, money-raising projects, house-work parties, and social events. They not only boost the morale of the men but also the public relations on campus.

Criteria for nomination is based upon previous contributions to the chapter, appearance, poise, and personality. Those nominated attend a preference tea held at the house where they meet the Sig Eps and Auxiliary members. Out of this group, members of the chapter, with the approval of the present Golden Hearts, select the girls to be tapped. Those tapped are formally initiated into the group in a ceremony which includes the awarding of a sash, certificate, and a Golden Heart's bracelet.

Buffalo Sig Eps held their second annual Parents Day Program. Moms and dads who attended learned of the various activities, functions purposes, and interests of Sig Ep. The program included brief talks on the social, financial, rushing, and pledging aspects. The successful Greek Singers sang their selections and the "Rumrunners," a vocal group of five brothers, entertained. Movies and slides were viewed that included such activities as Spring and Winter Weekend, stunt night, and Kampus Karnival.

Approximately 140 parents and brothers were served refreshments. Don Hemstreet directed the program and was emcee.

At Greeley, the chapter auxiliary known as the Daughters of the Black Heart, was installed at the annual Violets and Roses Ball November 3. Those selected were Pat Ahern, Val Strovas, Linda Cornish, Margo Eilts, Sharon Palmer, Mary Thorpe, Mary Ann Place, Renee Walradth, and Toni Ketcios. Housemother Mrs. Opal Booth was named an honorary member. The group has been assisting the chapter in rushing, service projects, and, in general, promoting Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Buzz Gunnison, who is in charge of the group today, conceived the idea. Ten outstanding women will be elected by the chapter for a period of one year with the fraternity sweetheart serving as chairman of the group. Any member of the group can be removed at any time by a two-thirds vote of the chapter. The Daughters were presented with membership cards and heart-shaped necklaces bearing a miniature crest.

Iowa Sig Eps gave a surprise birthday dinner for Housemother Mrs. Helen Clark on March 2, in the banquet room of an Iowa City restaurant.

At Kansas, Sig Ep house-mother, Mom Cook (left) and Alpha Delta Pi's Mom Clark made costumes for Rock Chalk production.

Mary Gale Marple, sweetheart of Marshall's Blue Mountain Blast.

GLEANED BY THE EDITOR

■ Prof. Nevitt Sanford, Richmond, director of the Institute for the Study of Human Problems at Stanford University, has proposed the establishment of "an intra-college Peace Corps." Specifically, he urged that seniors be given some responsibility for teaching freshmen.

At a recent symposium at Bowdoin College, Dr. Sanford said that seniors, as an aid to their own maturing, should "through study and discussion with faculty and other people, become experts in the sociology and the social psychology of the college" so that they can "speak to freshmen on the basis of knowledge and understanding."

"It has been said that students never understand the faculty until they become teachers themselves," he said. "Why not give them an opportunity to achieve this understanding now and thus take a long step toward the creation of an intellectual student-faculty community?"

■ James Forrestal, Dartmouth, Secretary of the Navy from 1944 to 1947 and later America's first Secretary of Defense, is the subject of a projected biography which will be written by John Osborne and published by Little, Brown in association with the Atlantic Monthly Press.

■ The Illinois Sig Eps, if they are successful, will be setting a fine example for other chapters in a sadly underdeveloped branch of fraternity affairs—history.

In the most recent issue of the Indian a plea is made by Alumni Relations Officer Bob Purdy for reports, anecdotes, and reminiscences from alumni of all classes, beginning with 1903 when the chapter was founded.

"It has been found," Purdy writes, "that the present version of the history as presented to the pledge class is full of inaccuracies. In particular, we would like to know of any trophies won, any changes in the house, any outstanding members, any officers that can be remembered, or, in general, any information that would be interesting in a history."

■ Juan Fernandez of Jerez de la Frontera, Cadiz, Spain, a guest of the Monmouth Sig Eps, has been discovering the benefits of college brotherhood in the U.S.A. And he has learned to like America so much that his goal is to become a citizen.

Juan came to America in August, 1961, under the American Field Service International Scholarship Program. "My plan since I first stepped into this great country has been to stay here if I could," says Juan. He intends to exchange his temporary visa for a permanent one. After completing college—he will begin his sophomore studies in the fall—Juan would like to teach languages or world history or work for the United Nations.

■ "We are extremely proud of our campus leadership, but our greatest asset at Memphis State is Brotherhood." Some chapters keep saying it but don't do it, but Tennessee Beta says it and does it.

The Memphis Commercial Appeal on March 16 told a "brotherhood" story about Robert Allen Holder, of Crenshaw, Miss., captain of the MSU cheerleaders.

A topnotch cheerleader whose spirit does much for the Tigers, Holder cherished a college-career dream that his team would play in New York's Madison Square Garden and he would be there to lead cheers.

But he believed that to have a good fraternity you have to be a good fraternity man, and Holder was always there when he was needed. In fact, in March when the Memphis State basketball team went off to New York to play in the NIT, Holder was a participant in the Delta Zeta Follies Skit Night, and so he remained behind.

The Follies were staged, but on stage, Don Whirley, president of the pledge class, and Charles Bastnagel, representing the active chapter of Sig Ep, presented Holder with an airplane ticket for New York.

He was scheduled to leave at 8:32 the next morning, he met by helicopter at La Guardia Airport and land on the roof of the Manhattan Hotel, MSU headquarters in New York, in time for the game.

The ticket was bought with contributions from every active, pledge, Sweetheart Club member, and friends of the fraternity. This was done in appreciation for what he had sacrificed for his fraternity.

■ Elizabeth A. Greenleaf, director of the counseling and activities office at Indiana University, sends word that graduate internships in student personnel and resident assistantships are available.

The opportunity is offered for professional experience in student personnel and guidance under the direction of a staff trained in the personnel field. Graduate study may be pursued with a major in Personnel and Guidance, or in Education, Psychology, Recreation, Sociology, or other fields.

Stipends which cover room, board, and basic fees are granted for half time service in the Residence Halls.

- At Nebraska, the bonds of Sig Ep go far in the Pokorny family of Schyler. A. Jay Pokorny was recently initiated as the fifth Pokorny brother of Nebraska Alpha. Jerry S. Pokorny was initiated in '54, John E. in '55, James J. in '56, and Jeffrey in '62.

Jay is active in campus and house activities, and was social chairman of his pledge class and a member of Red Cross. He is swimming team manager.

- The Christmas message of past Grand President H. B. Robinson and his sparkling wife Anne invariably is packed with an uplift of the spirit for life's weary traveler. The 1962 greeting contained these choice lines by Mrs. Robinson:

"The world is in a miserable state and most everyone has the jitters wondering what's coming next. Those whose moral stamina is not nourished by spiritual faith find the going extremely hard. There are few, if any, who are free from cares and heavy burdens . . . As this is written world tensions have eased some, but things could erupt again any moment considering some of the emotional, unstable people who are in charge of directing our lives.

"May Christmas be a meaningful season for you and may we all be grateful for the blessings God has bestowed and responsible for the way in which we use them. May you always have 'work for your hands; a straight path for your feet; sunshine in your window pane in the morning; a song in your treetop at sunset; soft rains in your garden; a coin for your purse; the hand of a friend on your latch string; love on your hearthstone and God in your heart.'"

- We have often wished for a method of presenting news of the chapter against the background of the campus itself. It is difficult for a Greek-letter magazine to avoid giving the impression that fraternity life is largely lived in a narrow corner of the campus.

One is enabled by reading some of the reports from the chapters intended for the JOURNAL to see what their fruits are and what their fruits are not, and one sees by examining a bit of evidence here and another bit there, what makes the chapter tick and just how good it is.

But a fraternity magazine somehow does not reveal the nature or atmosphere of the sheltering campus. Even in those articles titled, "Let's Visit Kent State," etc., the personality of the campus seldom comes through. One may glimpse more by leafing through a catalogue of the institution.

The campus newspapers—particularly the dailies—on the other hand, manage to project the "personality" of the campus so vividly and warmly—especially when good imaginative photos are used—that the campus tends to become alive for the reader. One sees how different the University of Texas is from Kansas State, that California is vastly different from Southern Cal, and so on.

By the same token, however, the campus newspapers do not picture "personalities" of fraternities as the fraternity magazines manage to do. In the newspaper, the fraternities all seem alike.

The newspaper not only presents a fascinating campus world, but if one compares the editions of one year with the next, one is able to note any changes that may have taken place in campus attitudes and temperament.

For one thing it would appear in general that the animus of the hectically liberal college editor against the Greeks seems to have weakened considerably since 1960. On some campuses—and this may be true at Minnesota—there is a body of opinion which treats the Greeks as outsiders—or as supernumeraries. At other places, they are almost too much the insiders, even where the vast majority of students are Greeks.

When Phi Gamma Delta recently installed a chapter at Auburn, the Plainsman devoted a banner headline and much of its front page to the event. The fact that the president of the University, Dr. Ralph B. Draughon, was initiated as an honorary member may of course have contributed to such an emphasis.

The Gettysburgian of Gettysburg College gives the Greeks regal treatment at all times. Gettysburg as a college has always made much of God and accordingly has always made much of brotherhood. The December 14 issue included a photo of Phi Delta Theta's first-prize Christmas house decorations depicting the theme, "Pathway to Peace," the individual tableaux representing the birth of Christ, His baptism, His blessing of the children, and the Last Supper.

The Daily Texan for December 18 headed four front-page columns with a great photo of the Pi Kappa Alpha house, its portals attractively decorated for Christmas. Though there is much news of the Greeks in the paper, one may browse through issue after issue before finding mention of a fraternity called Sigma Phi Epsilon. For that matter several issues of the JOURNAL would have to be read before finding mention of a Texas Alpha. An inside column of the Texan revealed at length that "Six fraternities and sororities have entered this year's Aggie Bonfire contest"—the list included SPE.

Nearly all the papers reveal a variety of sentiment concerning such issues as religious teaching, the National Student Association, the House Un-American Activities Committee, the use of alcoholic beverages, de-emphasis of intercollegiate athletics, campus architecture, and so on. The papers report many addresses of public leaders and speakers on vital subjects of the day and it is generally revealing to read how the speeches are received.

The co-ed editor of the Mississippian of Ole Miss received a reprimand from the Student Senate for calling the students involved in the riots of September 30, 1962, "barbarians" and "rabble rousers" and "immature weaklings . . . engaged in civil savagery," but a faculty resolution subsequently lauded her "constructive editorial policy."

Another paper which is sometimes inclined to be topheavy with news of the Greeks is the University of Nevada Sagebrush; also the Maine Daily. Editor of the Sagebrush is Sig Ep Doug Buchanan, and his ten-man staff is well-peppered with Greeks.

For sheer diligence of coverage and sane reporting, the University Daily Kansan is the leader. Although the Minnesota Daily boasts the largest college daily circulation in the world, and has the top magazine edition of them all, the Kansan clearly utilizes the most studious effort and seems more constantly mindful of the American heritage in the tradition of the late great William Allen White. Anent "all-fraternity leadership" the Daily Kansan for December 5 announced that Greek Week planners were abandoning precedent and would make the affair one of use and interest to others on Mount Oread besides the denizens of Fraternity Row.

■ Indiana Sig Eps in October purchased a new mascot, a Dalmatian puppy which they named Caesar.

"—and, Sir, in June I expect to be gra-'g'-r-'
'a'—" Hey, Ed, how do you spell GRADUATED?"

far cry from the simple first edition of 1879 in which Mr. Baird presented the Greek-letter world in three categories: "General Fraternities," "Ladies Societies," and "Miscellaneous." Under the "General" he included not only the "general" men's groups but also, amazingly enough, such groups as Phi Beta Kappa, an honor society, and Phi Delta Phi, a professional legal fraternity.

Another feature which increases the value of the new Manual is a list of 2,646 Greek-letter men and women of prominence, living and dead, which is by far the most extensive list of its kind ever published. It is limited to members of the men's and women's fraternities with the explanation that to do justice to these and to eminent professional and honor society members besides would require a directory as large if not larger than the entire book. "Phi Beta Kappa, as an example, claims 175,000 living members, a high percentage of whom are listed in Who's Who in America. The 1962-63 edition of Who's Who includes sketches of 56,264 persons, an impressive percentage of whom are affiliated with Greek-letter societies."

A further innovation is the presentation of the descriptions of fraternities and societies in a uniform order, following these topical sideheads: Growth, Government, Traditions and Insignia, Publications, Funds and Philanthropies, Headquarters (address), and Membership. Membership statistics are immediately followed by the roster of chapters.

The new edition is dedicated to George Banta. 1857-1935, first president of the General Council of Phi Delta Theta, a member of Delta Theta Phi professional law fraternity, and the only male member of Delta Gamma women's fraternity. Founder of the George Banta Co., Inc. in 1901 and of Banta's Greek Exchange in 1912. "he was beloved counselor and adviser not to one Greek-letter society but to many and ever a living example of sincerity and loyalty to those principles on which they were founded."

Members of Sigma Phi Epsilon will be interested in knowing that the editor of the new Baird's is a brother. He is John Robson, Lawrence, '28, who has edited the JOURNAL since 1942 and has been managing editor of Banta's Greek Exchange since 1956.

Other editors of the well-known fraternity world bible have been: William Raimond Baird, Beta Theta Pi, first to eighth editions; James T. Brown, Beta Theta Pi, ninth and tenth editions; Francis W. Shepardson, Beta Theta Pi, eleventh, twelfth, and thirteenth editions; Alvan E. Duerr, fourteenth edition; Harold J. Bailly, Beta Theta Pi, fifteenth edition; and George Starr Lasher, Theta Chi, sixteenth edition.

The Preface to the Manual concludes: "Readers who are surprised that the fraternity system continues to grow so lustily need not be. 'It is the real evidence that the fraternity of tomorrow is to be far more powerful than that of yesterday,' said Francis W. Shepardson of Beta Theta Pi, 'because of the increased faith of earnest men in the dignity, the potentiality, and the human influence of such an association of kindred souls.'"

The new Manual contains 848 pages. It is set in a modern double-column format in a trimmed size of 6¾ by 9¾ inches, and is bound in a durable red buckram. Copies may be ordered from George Banta Co., Inc., Menasha, Wis., the publisher. The price is $8.00 postpaid.

1887, it also published an annual pamphlet report. This gave place in 1920 to a magazine for members only called the Sigma Phi Flame, which is issued one or more times a year. Periodical bulletins are also issued.

which he added Epsilon when faculty reference to Baird's Manual revealed that a Sigma Phi already existed. Jenkins sought a principle from the New Testament which would serve as the foundation of the new fraternity and chose Matthew 22: 37-40, namely, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind. This is the first and great commandment. And the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." Jenkins said, "I read Matthew 22: 37-40, where the truth of eternity is summed up in the finest philosophy the world has ever known, the profoundest truth it has ever had ... and I said to these boys who were planning with me, 'There is the rock, there is the rock.' The five students who with Jenkins planned the fraternity were Benjamin Donald Gow, '04, William Hugh Carter, '02, William Andrew Wallace, '03, Thomas Temple Wright, '04, and William Lazell Phillips, '03. These men invited six others into their group who are also recognized as founders: Lucian Baum Cox, '02, Richard Spurgeon Owens, '04, Edgar Lee Allen, '02, Robert Alfred McFarland, '02, Franklin Webb Kerlson, '02, and Thomas Valen McCaul, '02. Jenkins devised the symbolism and conceived the badge as heart-shaped, consistent with the theme of eternity. Christen love. Previously these students had called themselves "The Saturday Night Club" but now they were dubbed "The Sacred Hearts."

The decision to convert the local fraternity thus established into a national fraternity was made in October, 1902, by the small band of eight members who returned for that session. Gow and Wright of the founders and six others, including Charles W. Dickinson, Jr., secretary of the group, who prepared the application for the charter. During that session charters were granted at the Medical College of Virginia, Washington and Jefferson College, Roanoke College, Bethany College, and the University of West Virginia.

Growth Several of the early chapters were formed for the purpose of becoming chapters of Sigma Phi Epsilon, but later many local clubs or fraternities became chapters. Virginia Beta was a local called Phi Iota Sigma. Pennylvania Alpha was reorganized to form a chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon, but when the chapter of Omega Psi Alpha resigned from that fraternity, twelve of its fifteen members were invited into chapter became a chapter of the medical fraternity Alpha Kappa Kappa. The Syracuse chapter was the local Adelphean society and

Sigma Phi Epsilon

SIGMA PHI EPSILON was founded at Richmond College, now the University of Richmond, Virginia, on November 1, 1901. Carter Ashton Jenkins, an initiate of Chi Phi at Rutgers College where his father was pastor at the Baptist Church, enrolled at Richmond College in September, 1900, and he quickly found himself a leader of a group of compatible young men, most of them ministerial candidates who sought brotherhood. Kappa Alpha Order, Phi Kappa Sigma, Phi Gamma Delta, Pi Kappa Alpha and Kappa Sigma were there but they did not often accept ministerial students. Jenkins addressed a petition for a chapter to Chi Phi and when the request was denied he and his group persuaded a committee of the faculty to allow them to attempt to establish a fraternity to be called Sigma Phi Epsilon. Jenkins chose the name Sigma Phi at first, to
